Mr. F...

This is your Northside

This is your Northside, Mr. Farnsworth. You have been the very heart of it.

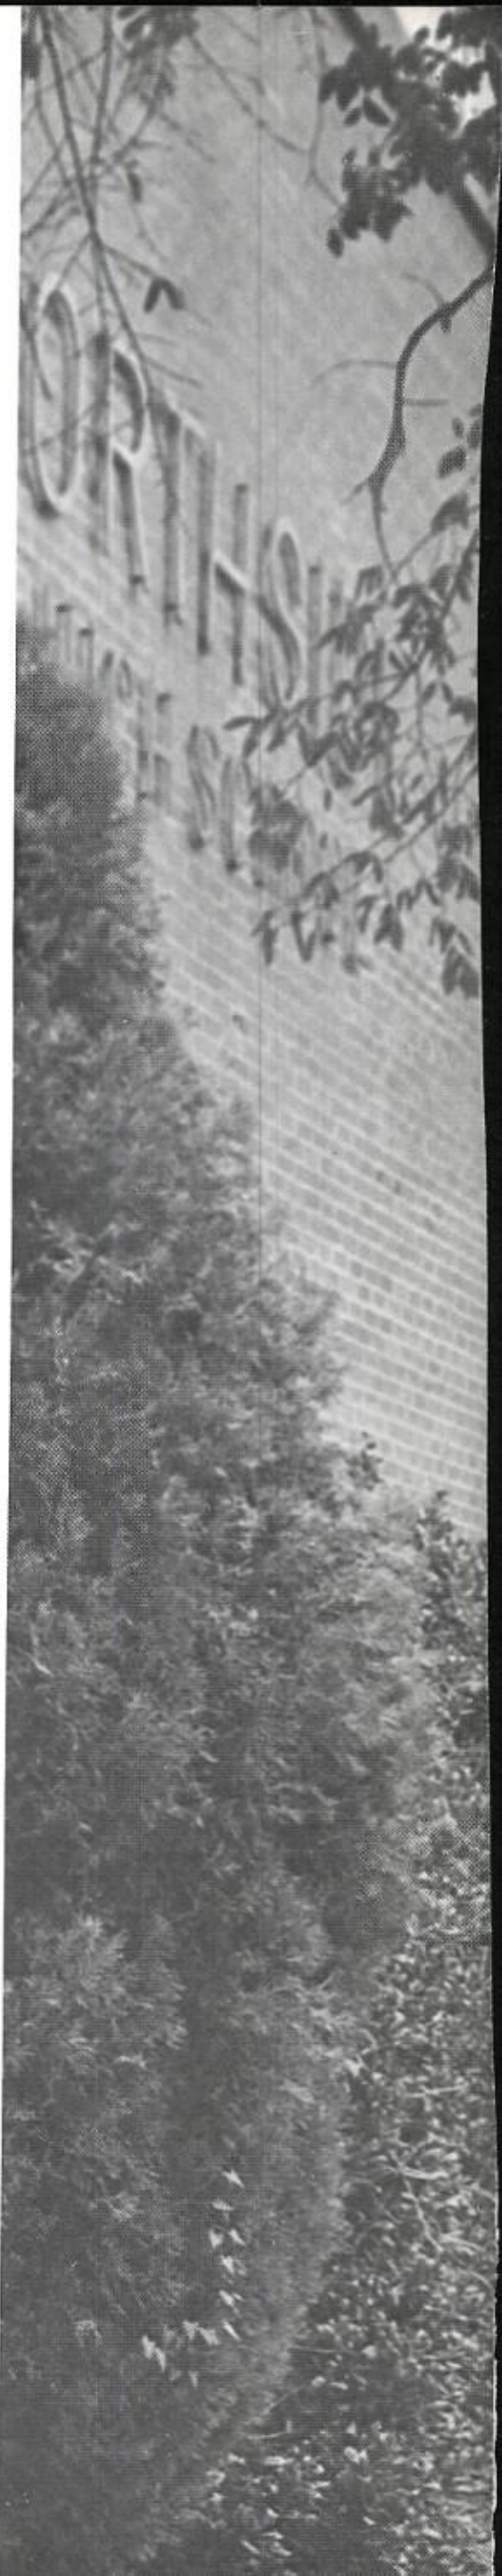

Northside could never begin to list the contributions you've made to make it what it is, Number One.

Your many years of hard work have strengthened the unity that Northside now enjoys.

You've been devoted to Northside through the thick and the thin, the bad times and the good.

Your love for Northside has always been displayed by a sparkle in your eyes.

You've talked many times about the importance of wearing a smile and have demonstrated it by wearing a smile that has been an inspiration to us all.

Pride, a very important essential to the well-being of a school, has been instilled in everyone by simply being in your presence. Your red and white spirit is typical of every Grizzly fan. But everyone always recognizes the man in the red shirt and sweater, red and white socks, and bow tie as Mr. Grizzly himself.

Your friendship will be cherished forever. Your special friendship to the departments will be remembered. You've been a special inspiration to our Growling Grizzlies—our athletic teams. The football and basketball seasons were dedicated to you.

Amidst all the changes that have occurred through the years at Northside, you have managed to keep up with the times in trying to keep Northside right on the top of things.

Your morning meditation presented each morning has encouraged students through the year to strive to reach the ultimate goal they have planned for themselves.

On June 30 with your 24 years at Northside completed, the Farnsworth Era may be defined in dates, but it will always be imbedded in the hearts of those who have been a part of it.

What is a Data Bear?

The newest riddle of '72-'73 circulating around the halls at Northside was "What's red and white and gray all over"?

And if you're the average, overweight, undernourished, complacent Grizzly, you'll reply, "Why, Data Bear, of course!"

And if your best friend happens to be the everyday, run-of-the-mill dimwit, he will brightly reply, "Duh, what's a Date-A-Bear?!" "Well, Dimwit, only all NHS knows that Data Bear is the affectionate nickname with which the Publications Department dubbed the computer.

"Which computer, you say?"

"THE computer.

"The heavenly Messenger sent to us, courtesy of the great IBM in the sky.

"The computer that scheduled all Northside High, Southside High and Westark Community College students for the first time all by himself. The Computer that has been housed at Westark since last year. The Computer that has one of the guidance counselors so in awe of HIM that she refuses to "look HIM straight in the eye."

"The all-knowing, all-seeing, all-hearing, all-everything Computer!"

The Age of Aquarius (and Data Bear) just came in on the last train . . .

It was a new thing. Northside students this year sunned themselves in the light of the computer's glory, knowing that they were the first NHS classes ever to have been scheduled by a computer.

Yet because so much manual labor is required of the guidance counselors to make the job of scheduling easier for the computer (who in turn is supposed to make the job easier for the guidance counselors), it consequently took much longer to make the students' schedules available to them before school started in the fall.

As a guidance counselor describes the spring of '72: "Twenty-three hundred hours of our manual labor was required to allow the computer to finish scheduling all 1,630 NHS students in merely 23 minutes."

In spite of all the unstinted praise of Data Bear, unconfirmed sources report that he can even make mistakes along with his other multifarious talents. One student is said to have been scheduled for three gym classes, while another had gym and five study halls.

Bells, bells, ring in new the year.

August 25 . . .

It was a day of bells, bells, bells!
Listening to the worry and the scurry of the bells.

A day of mourning for good classes past many eons ago, never to be heard from again.

A day of acquainting the people and the building. A father and his children, you might say.

A day of hysterical wandering, wondering where, oh, where has my little class gone . . . ?

A day of mass worry, worry, worry and hurry, hurry, hurry!

You'll be late, late, late at this rate, rate, rate!

A day when visions of sandy plains danced in your head.

A day when spring fever was again in the air.

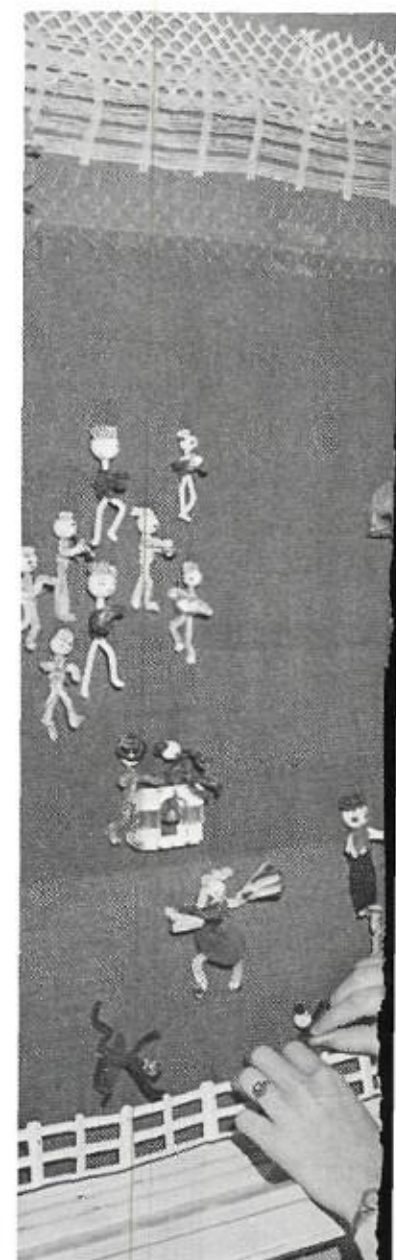

A day when tons of sacrificial offerings were sent to the heavenly god of grades.

A day of regret.

August 25 was a Comedy of Errors.
August 25 was the first day of school.

 A Bear's bare bulletin board is hard to bear for Wilhelmina Moore and Miss Dorothy Sevedge.
 The academic program is what a student makes it.
 Despite all the games, dances, clubs, activities and projects going on at NHS, a person still finds time to be alone with books.

The next day, and the next.

Every day

Opening day merged into next day, and next day became every day as Northsiders settled into daily schedules.

Sixteen hundred thirty in all, 611 sophomores, 503 juniors and 516 seniors practiced the classroom ritual at Northside.

The Year, 1972-'73, proved to be the Year One in the young life of Data Bear, Northside's own, personalized computer.

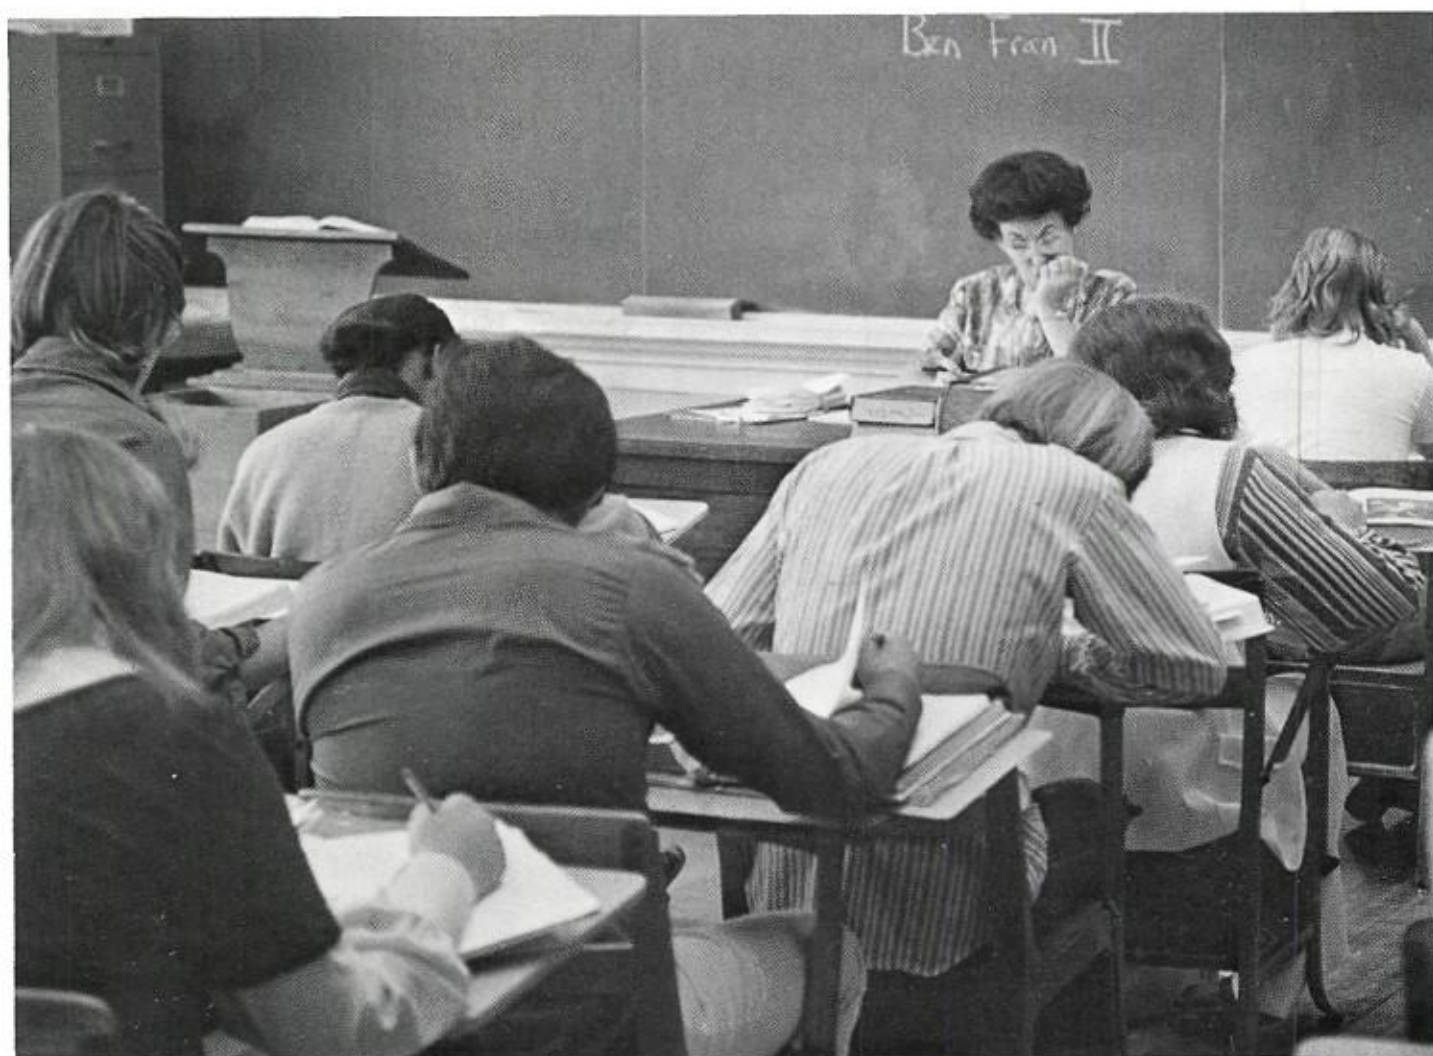

The Year proved to be the Year Last in the long service of R. Earl Farnsworth, Northside's own, personalized principal.

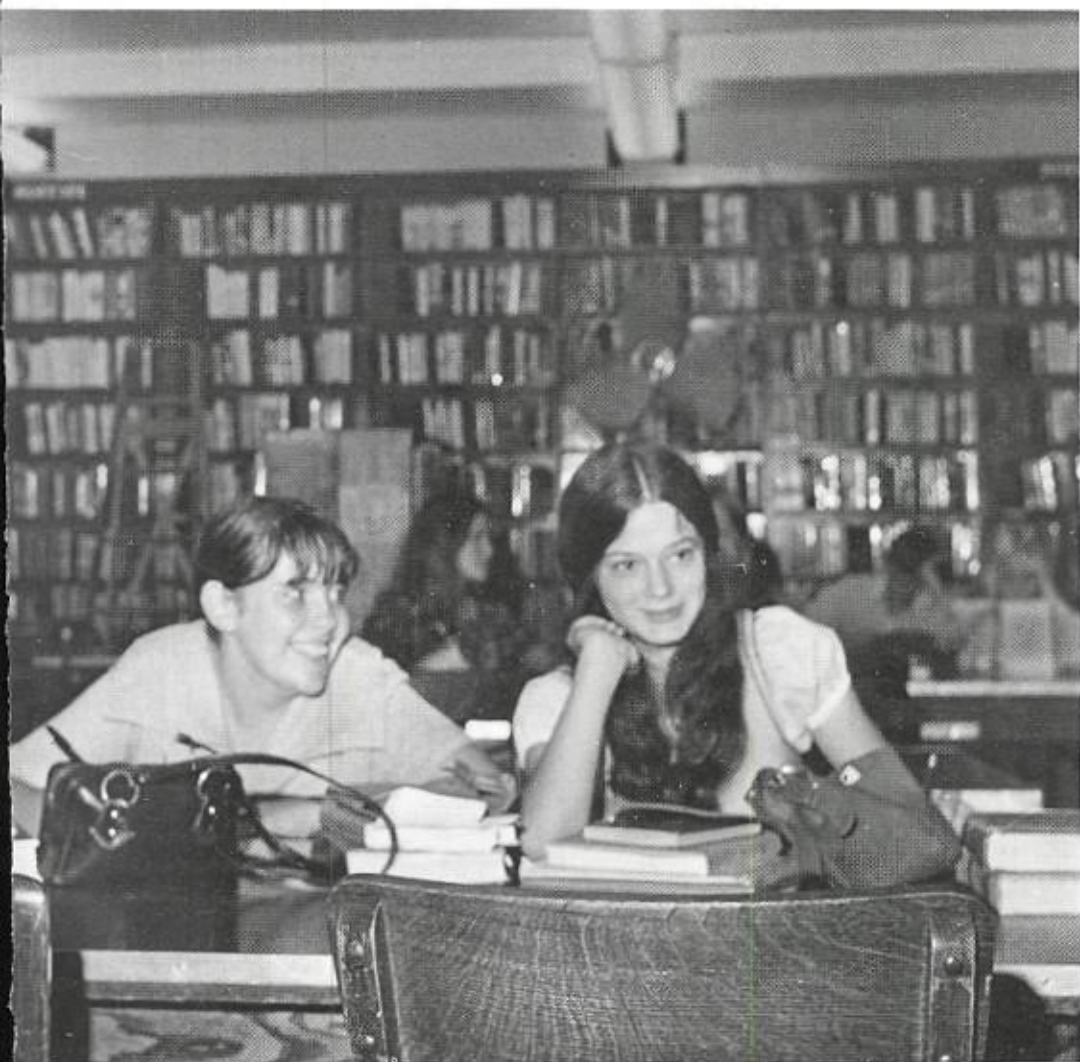

The Careers Program, a first for this year, included the offering of secretarial sciences and vocational exploration to high school students. Students enrolled in this program left the Northside campus at noon every day, accompanied by Miss Juanita Hinkle, Mrs. Elveda Kuttait and Mrs. Helen McCarty, and went to Westark Community College, where the girls received instruction in business procedures and boys studied mechanical skills.

"The principal purpose of the careers program," Mr. Farnsworth explained, "is to acquaint the student with skills that might interest him and encourage him to continue in that specific job training."

Besides the careers program, sociology, psychology, hispanic culture and projects physics were new courses.

Five days hath a week.

Black Monday. Black and moody, angry. Headaches. Sight of classroom objectives are lost in the fog of dreams. Rain and snow in May on a Monday. Typewriters break, splinters pop up, Bic pens fail to write and Bears are beaten. All typical on the first day of the week. Mondays ought to be outlawed. But then we wouldn't have had Christmas or New Year's.

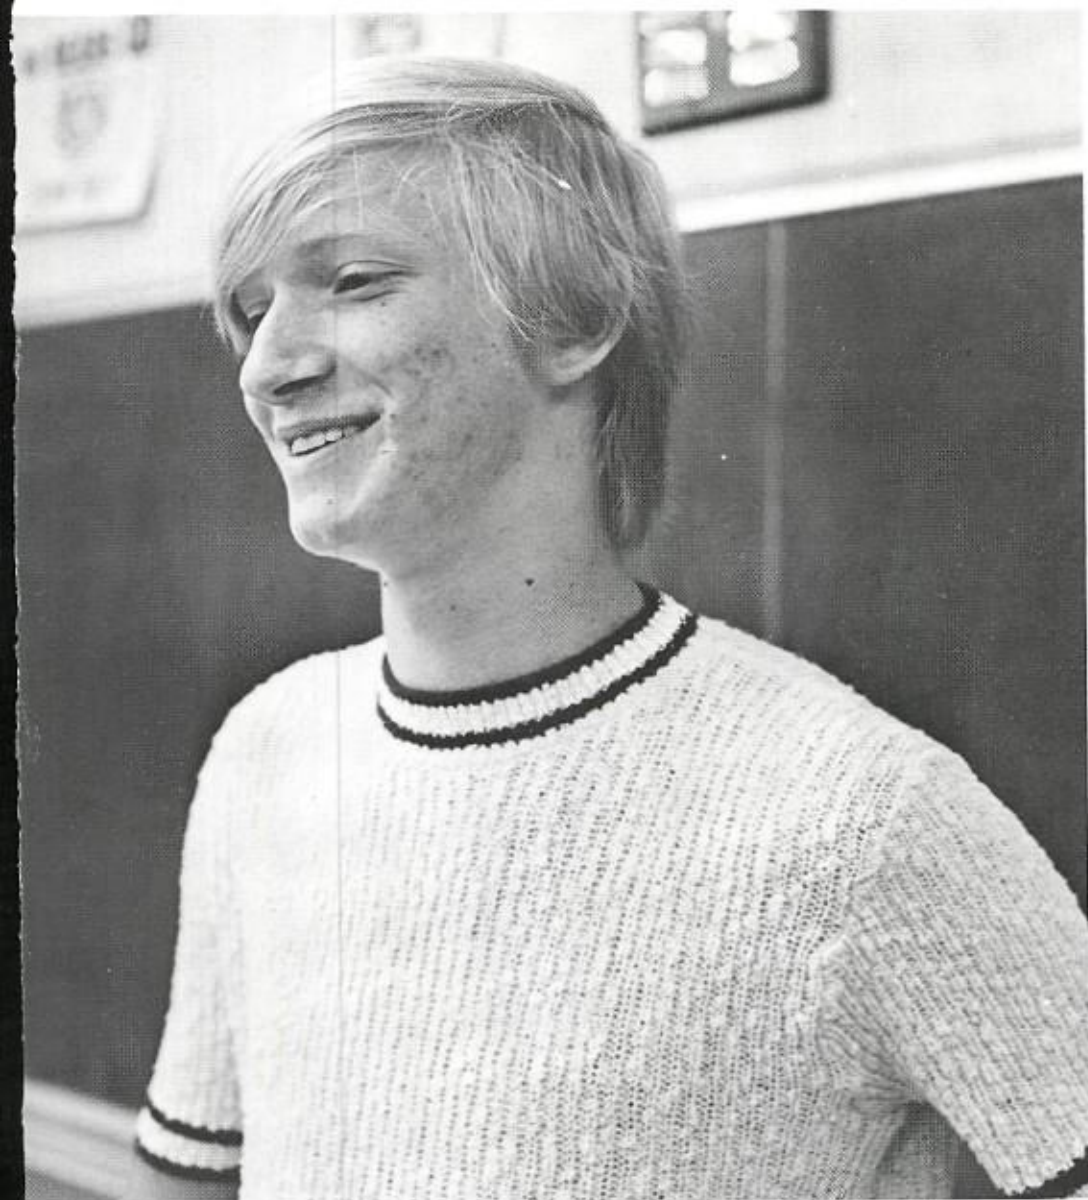

Gray Tuesday. A day when a body needs to be with friends. Tuesday is no day to be alone. The company of pencils, pens and people is kept. A bad time to brood, is Tuesday.

Thanksgiving. A sort-of, half-way day. Headaches are becoming less noticeable, and anticipation is becoming evident. A time to watch and to be watched lest we loose the ties that bind, and forget where and who we are. The turning point. Wednesday.

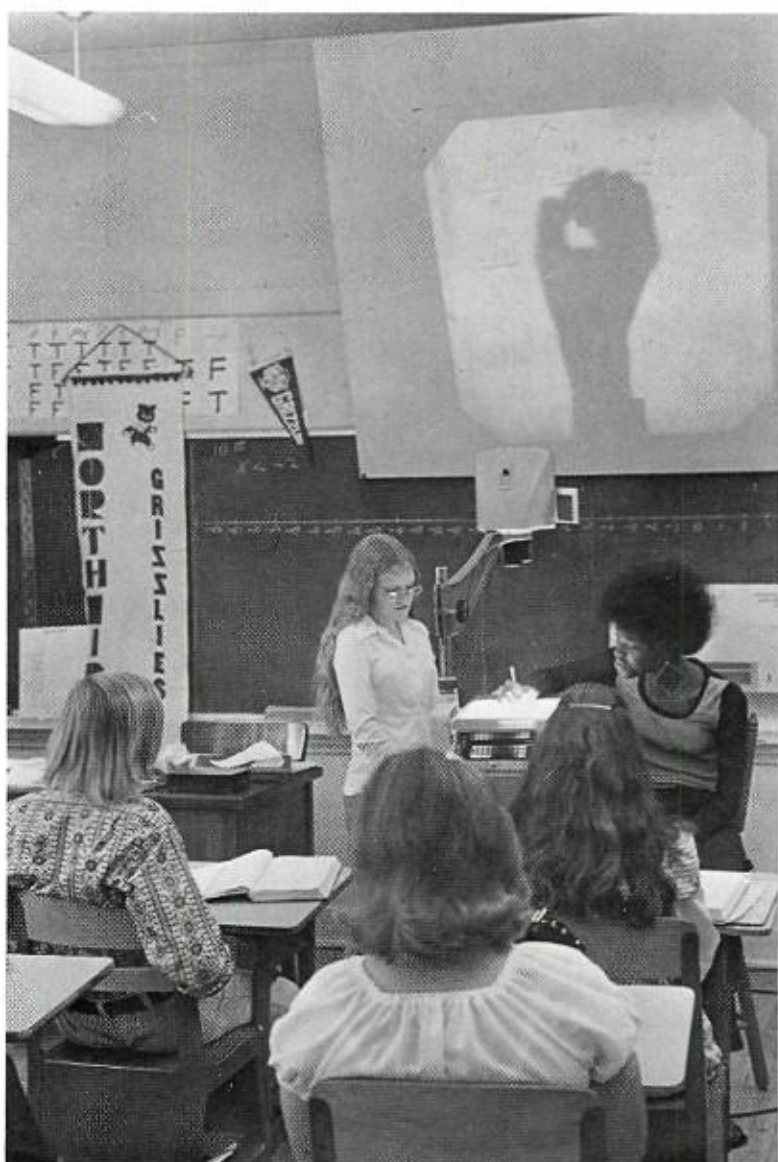

Thursday has arrived, but people are oblivious of this fact. Teachers find it increasingly difficult to attract the attention of their students, though moments of seclusion and study are yet within grasp. But Friday draws ever nearer, and the task becomes ever difficult. The world knows not that today is Thursday, but that tomorrow is Friday, last day of the week.

Crystal magic, sunshine. Work is absent on this day (at least in the grateful minds of those who attend). Secret whispers and bad jokes, the world is laughing. Even the Friday Fish are grinning. What more need one say, than THANK GOODNESS, IT'S FRIDAY.

The moods of the week are, in truth, the moods of the people. And the moods of the people are, in truth, the moods of Northside. In knowing and feeling this truth, the people, and Northside, survive.

The work's the thing.

Letting pupils work together on various projects on class time, letting them experience the joy of teaching (while keeping the others interested), and trying to hypnotize students with their "Burnsing" eyes were just a few of the devices employed by teachers this year in making class appealing to students. Compositions to write, problems to work, letters to type, copy to proofread, exercises to do and selections to read were assigned to stimulate minds and promote interest. Even with all this to do, some students occasionally "wood" break a "rule", causing teachers to take "Harsh measures."

NHS ears know noise.

Sixteen hundred fifty students contained in nearly 80 classrooms presented approximately 3,300 ears attuned (or not) to classroom activities. They weren't the same all over school, however. If the hearing apparatus belonged to a junior, it might have recognized opposing views of the Civil War being discussed in American history or directions being explained in the administration of the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test. It might also have heard the NHS class ring being slipped on the body's ring finger on November 29.

The student might have gone to typing and heard the clack of keys, gone to study hall and heard the drone of snores or the scratching of lead against paper, gone to Westark and heard the buzz of office machines, gone to gym and heard basketballs, or gone to German and heard German. The school was an infinite variety of sounds. One thing was certain, though—any ear at four o'clock on a Friday afternoon would have heard the sound of silence.

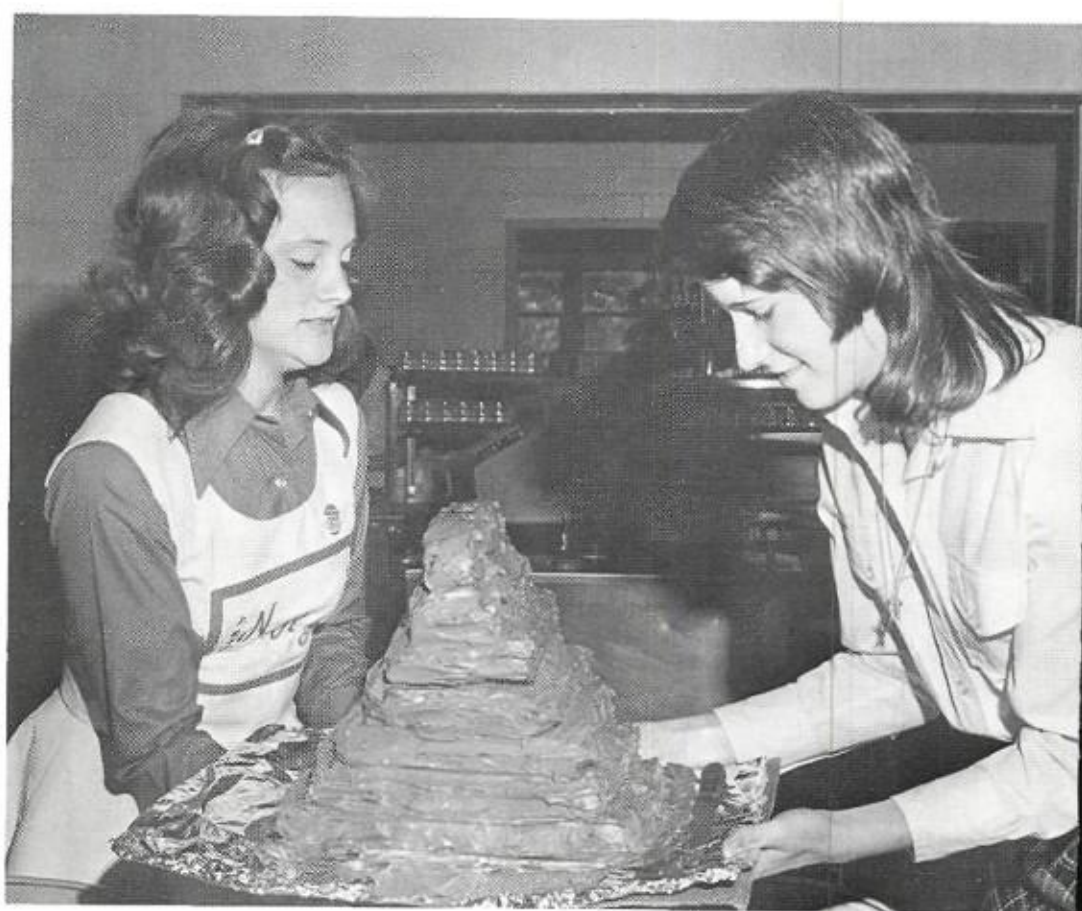

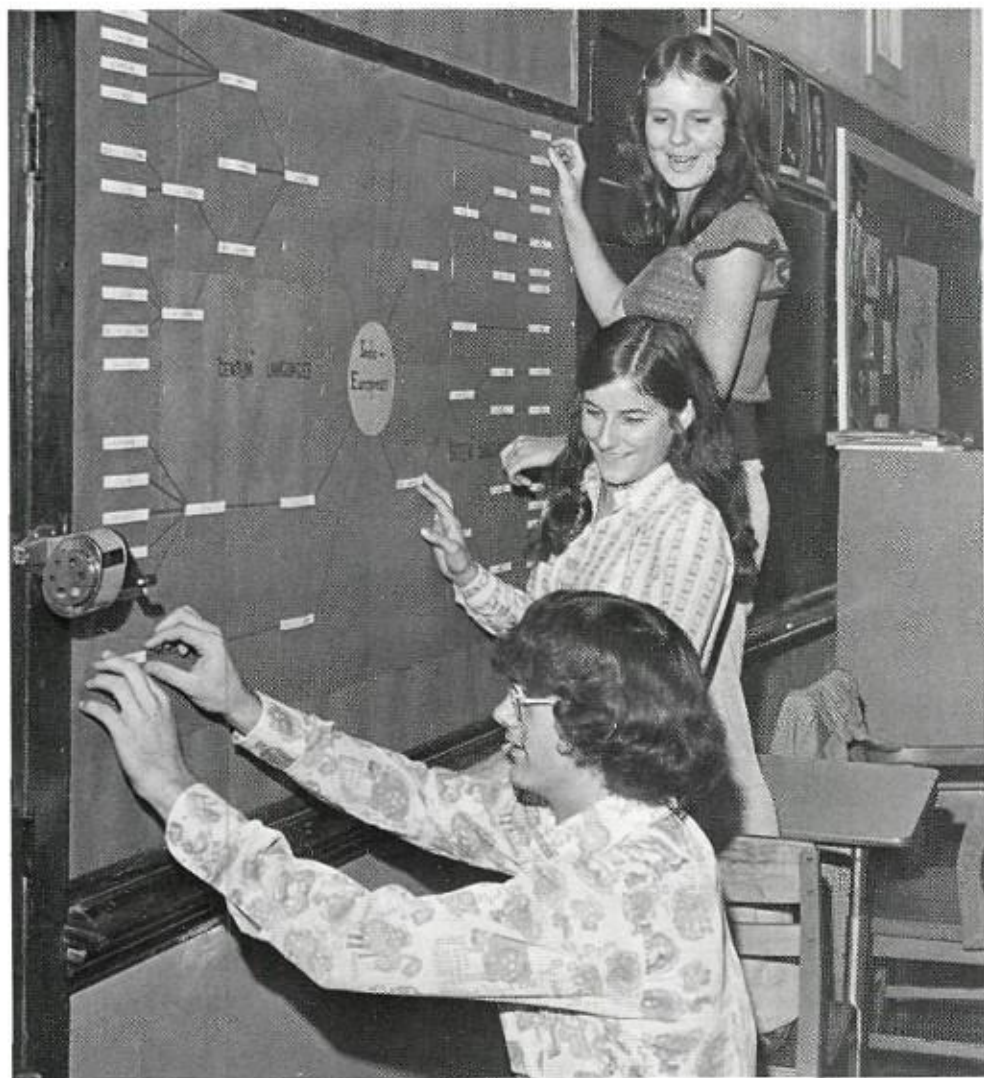

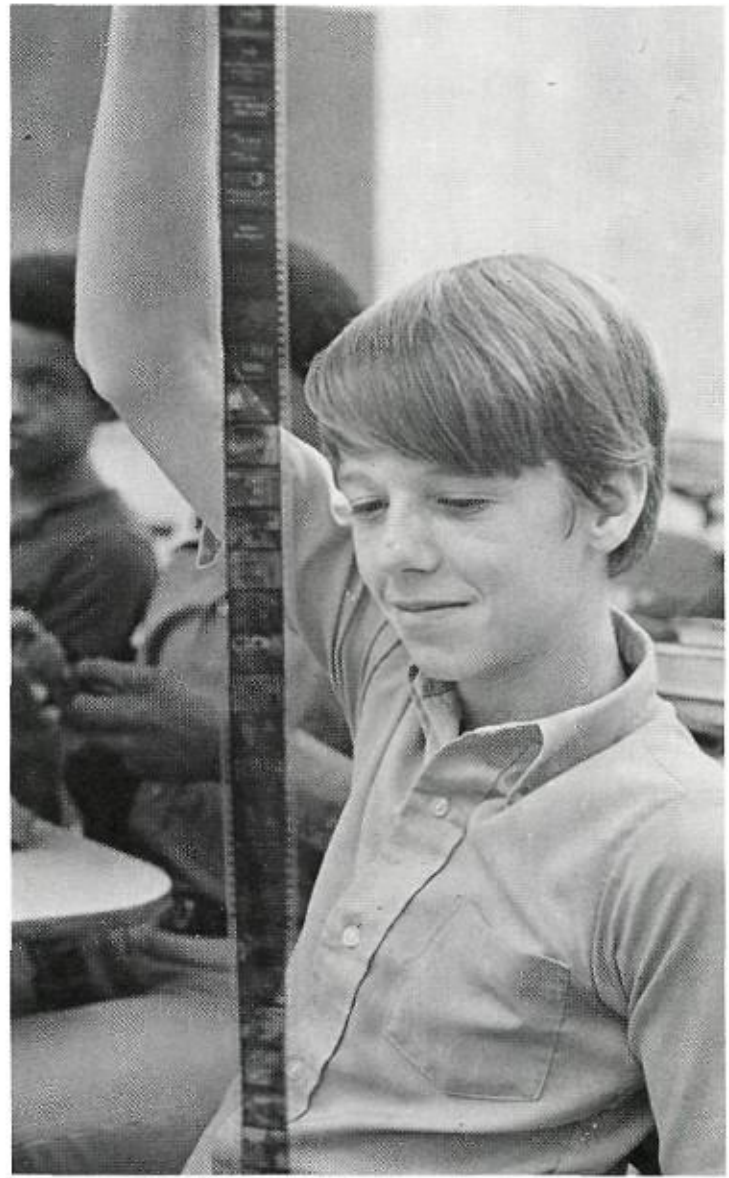

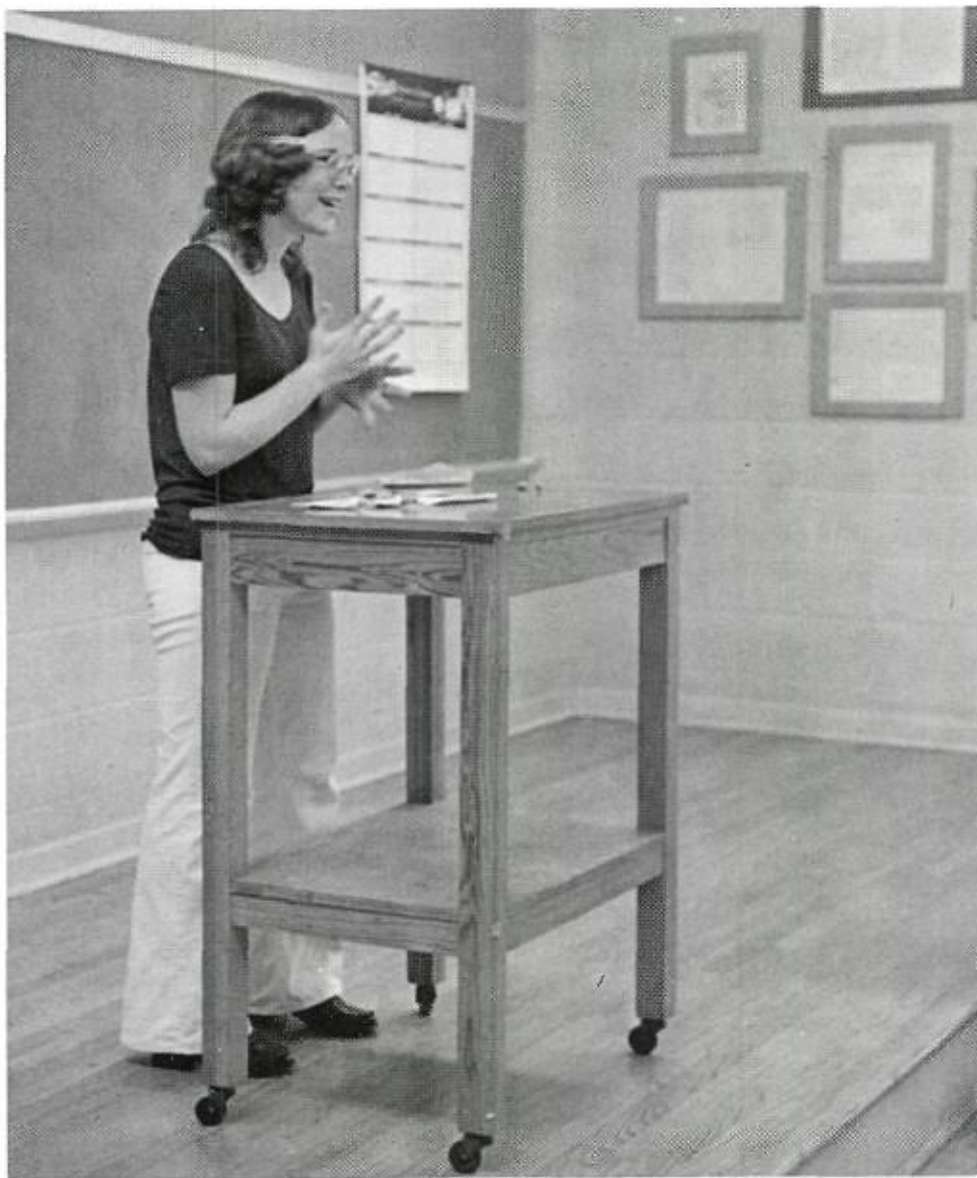

Projects—the layered look.

Illustrious Northsiders this year livened their class time with special activities related to the subject of study. Projects ranged from sculptures in art to teas in home ec., and from reports in English to cedar chests in wood-working. These activities were associated with field trips, film strips, bulletin boards, dramatizations, songs, tapes and reading lists.

The creators could often taste the created meal, see the created drawing, smell the created mixture, feel the created model or hear the created music. This learning which centers around ideas that cannot be learned in books makes up a vital part of the academic program offered the students of Northside.

Seniors find pass-word.

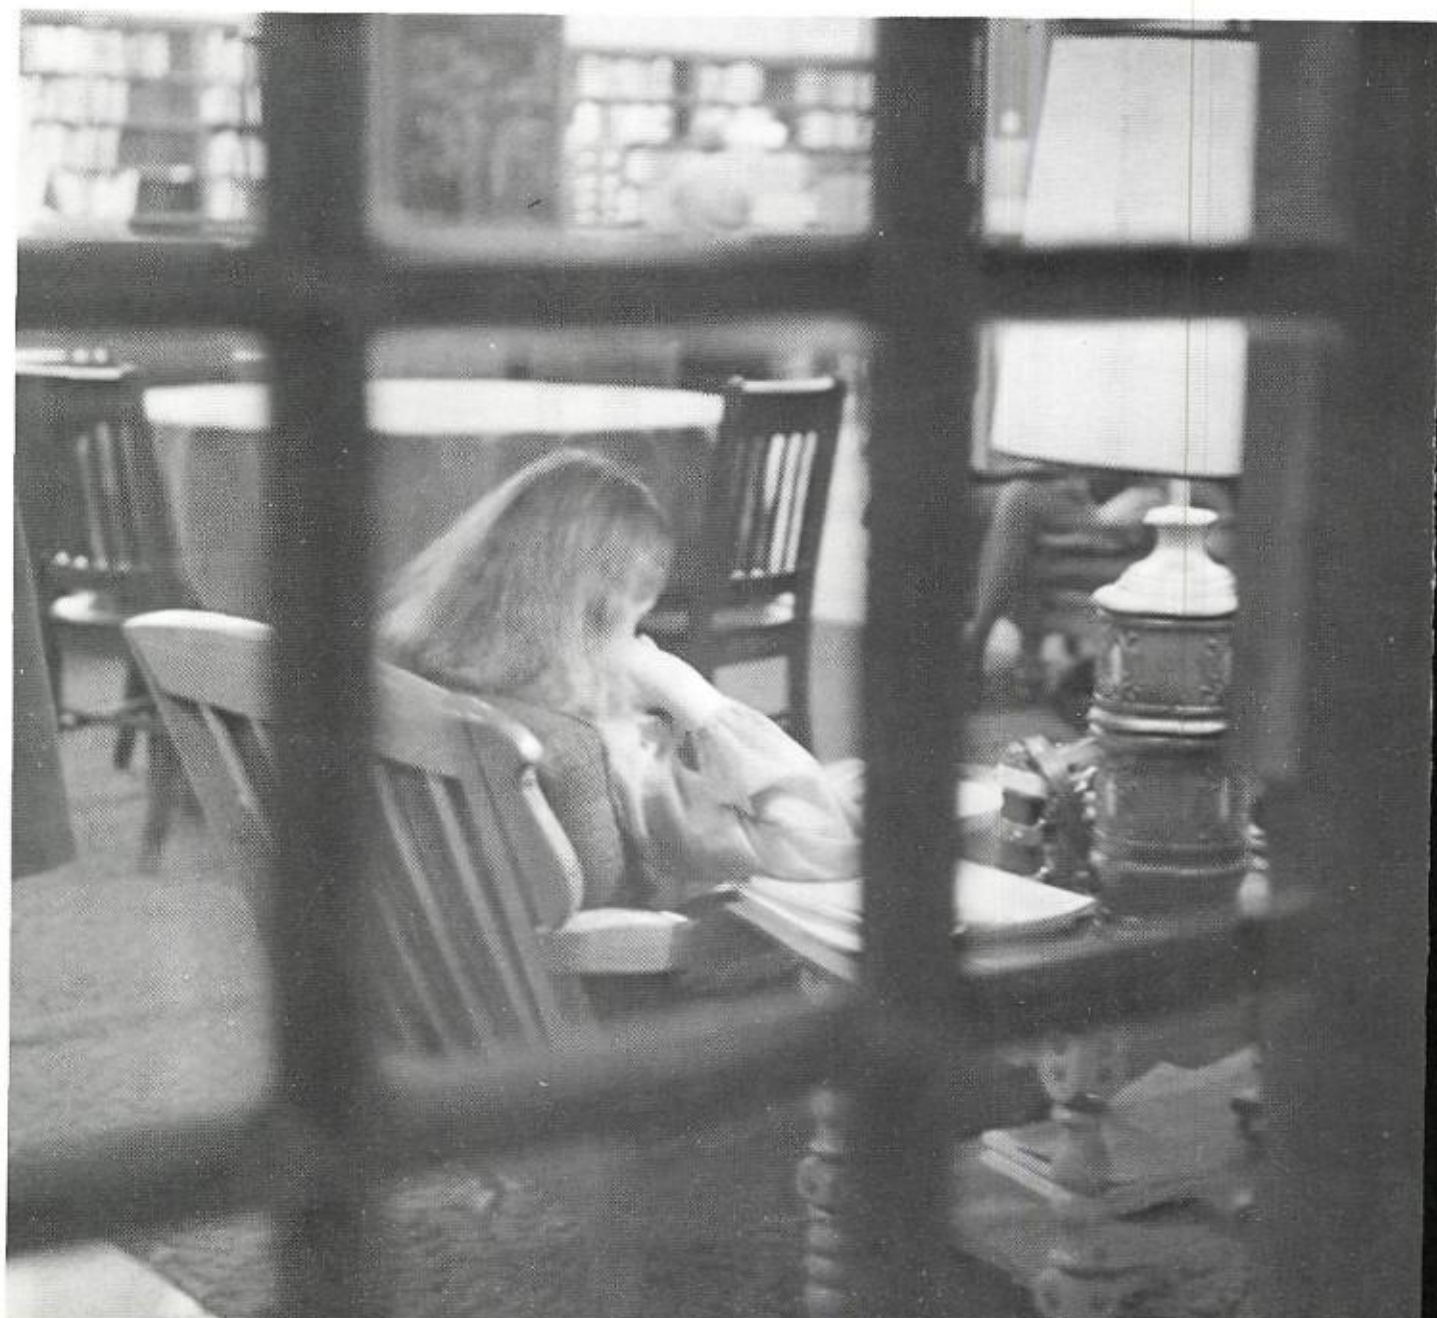

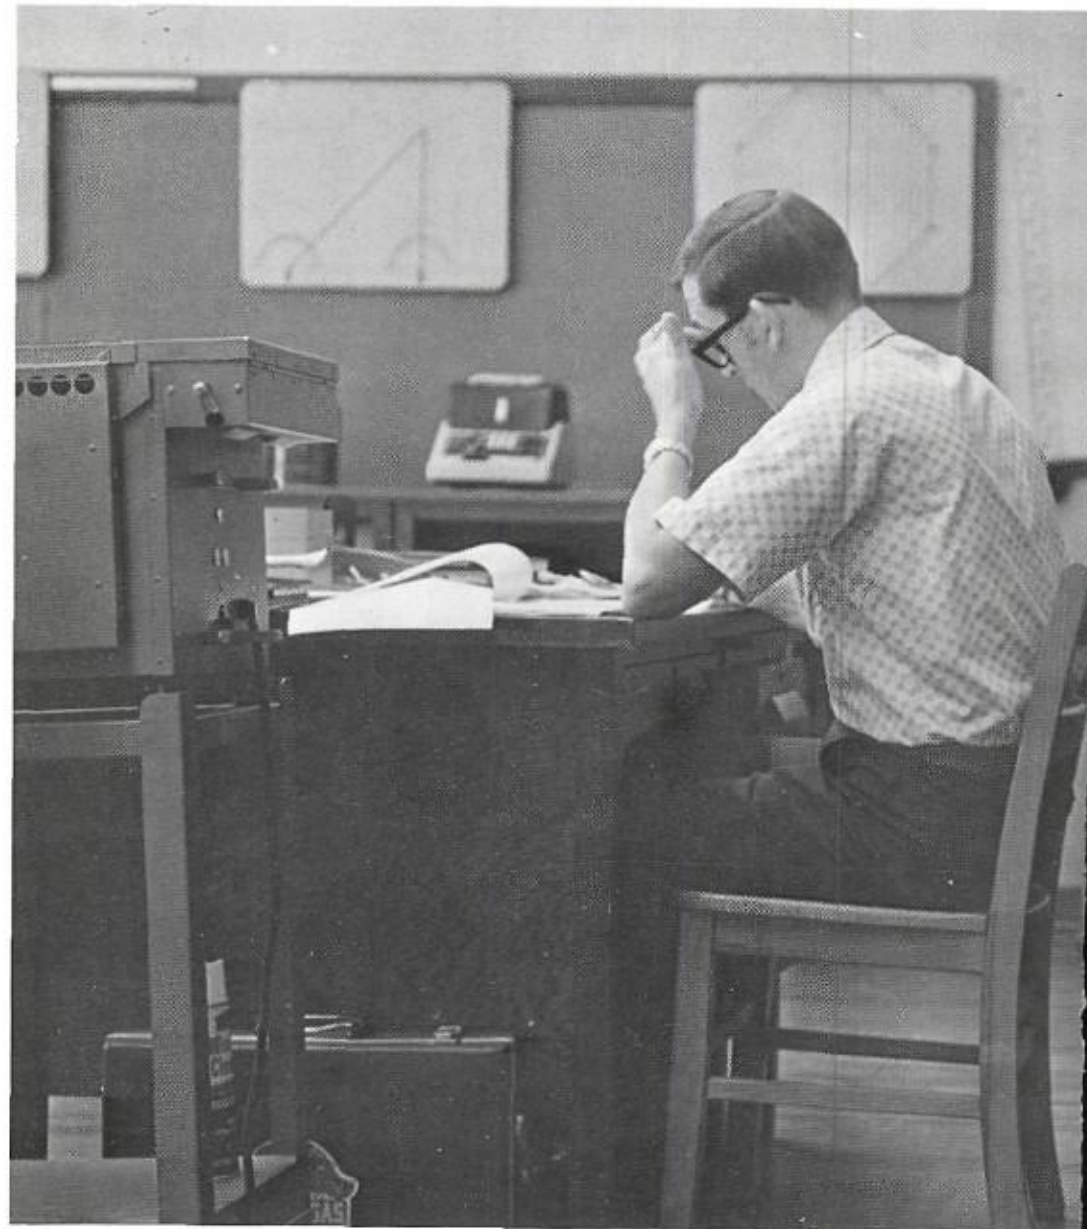

To STUDY means to "apply the mind to acquire knowledge." Study is an advanced art of civilization meant to fit the individual and the need. Without it, Northside would not exist. The NHS student of today, yesterday and tomorrow does, did and will use it to get him where he is and will be: in high school, in college, at work. Study is a supportive arm used by industrious persons to further the extent of their knowledge, and, of course, to pass their courses. It held true in 1972-73.

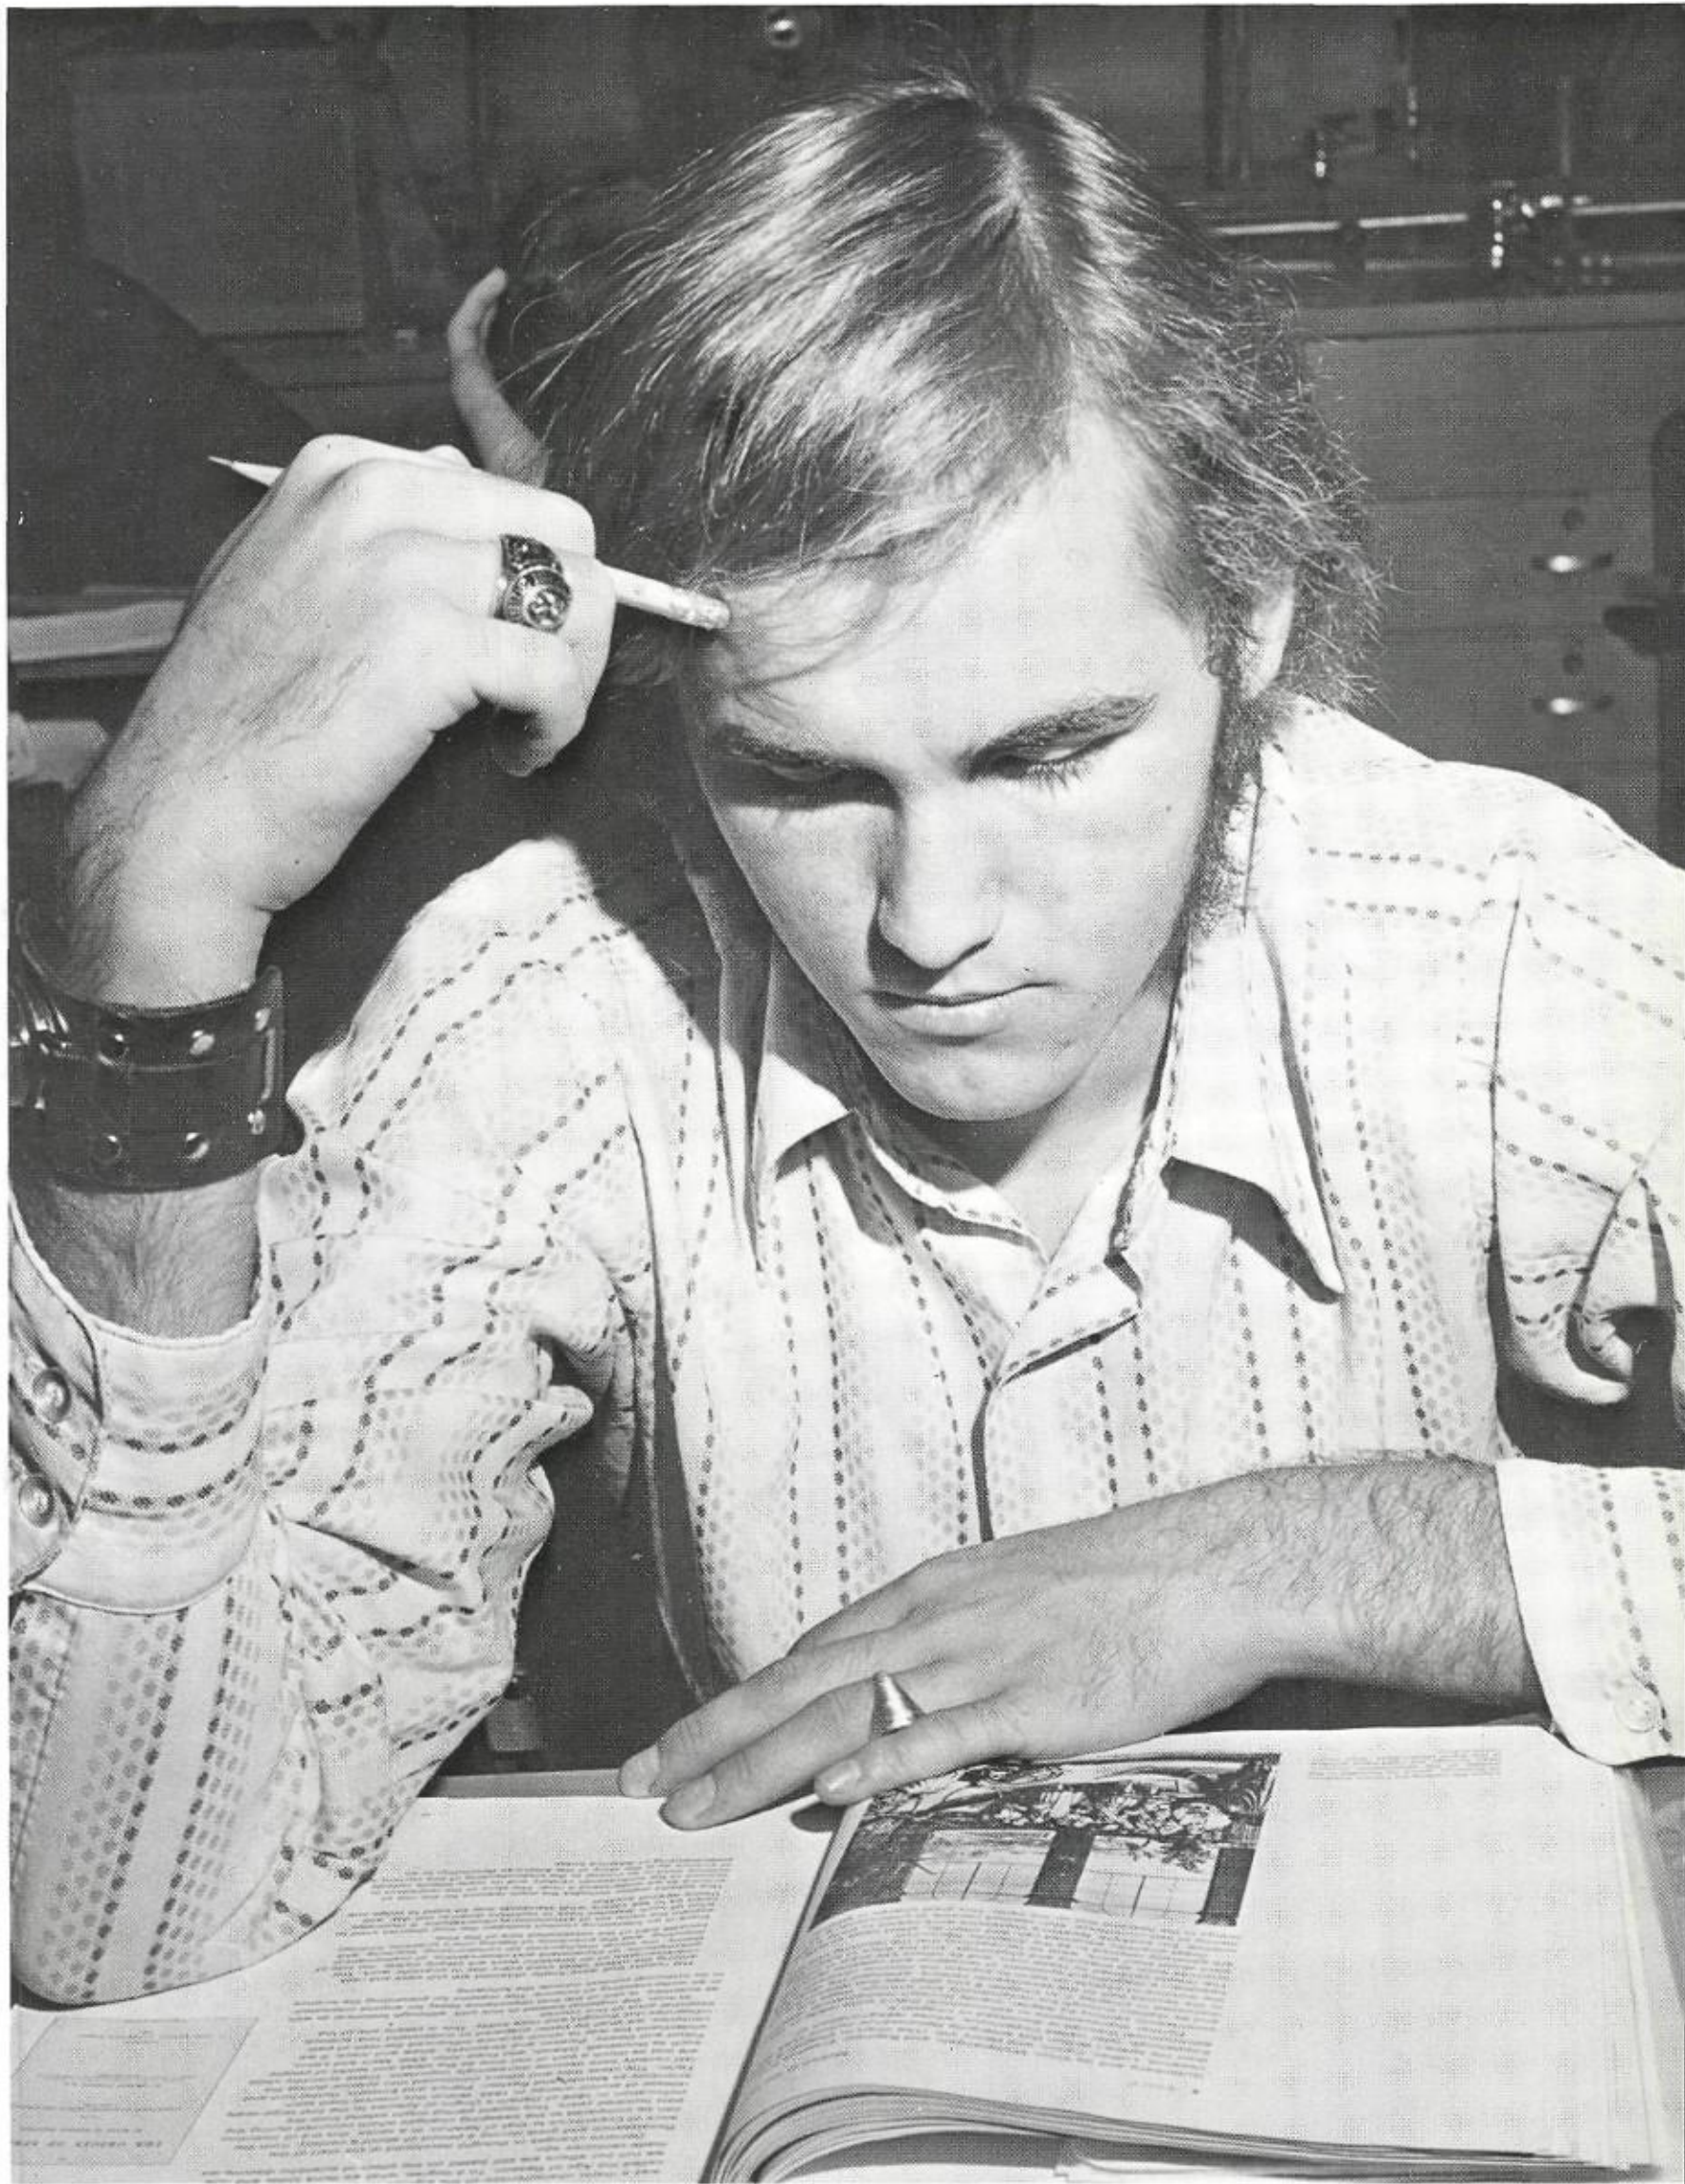

NHS seniors utilized past resources of stored-up knowledge to pass such senior-orientated courses as sociology, psychology, English (enriched, college preparatory or general), physics and chemistry III. They also relied on study skills to take the ACT and SAT college entrance exams. Study molded the world of the student of '72-'73.

Study—a way of life.

Underclassmen did, and will continue to, use studying as a stepping stone to becoming upperclassmen and graduates. Students had to learn to study anywhere they could, anytime they could, and with anyone who knew the answer, like it or else. The student of '72-'73 also had to choose his own path of study to suit his individual requirements.

Courses designed specifically for juniors and sophomores included English, American history and first-year Latin, Spanish, French and German. Yet with the two-semester passing rule being what it was, a senior or two was occasionally noticed drifting through underclassmen's classes, attempting to replace a lost credit here and there. Study—a way of life at Northside.

JROTC gains new director.

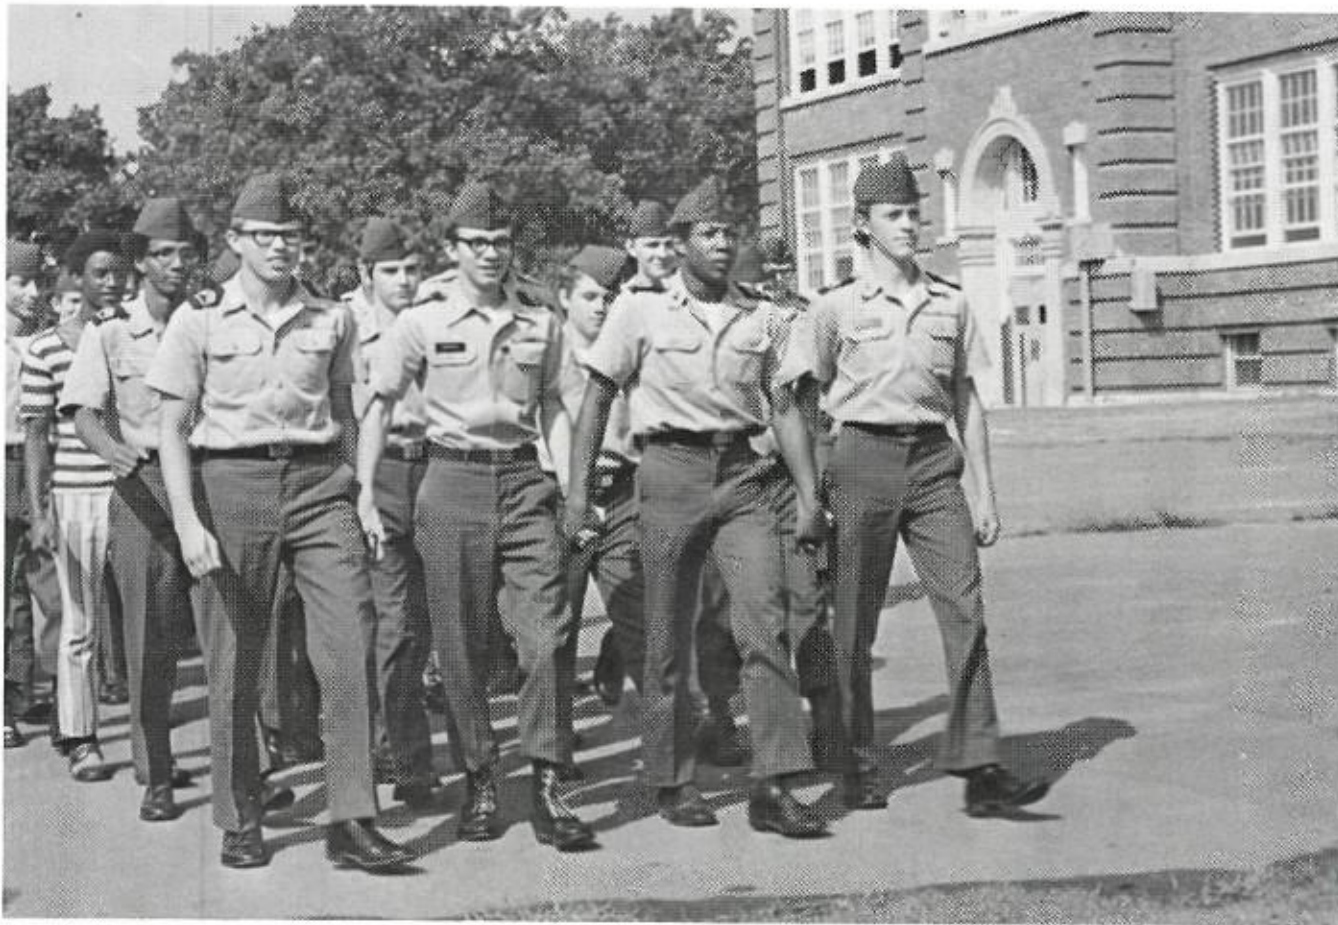

Discipline is training that develops self-control and character. Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps (JROTC) is a phase of this discipline.

One hundred six boys this year drilled twice weekly and received instruction in map reading, field maneuvers, marksmanship and physical training. Student officers were Mark Silvers, David Rackley, Mike Banks, Phillip Dieckman, Jim Stilwell, Ceborn Miller, Jim Jordan, Ben Jones and Bobby Stephens. Adult instructors were Master Sgt. William Loyd and Sgt. First Class Tom Robinson. Colonel Choice Rucker, who had served as a commandant since the institution of the Northside JROTC program in 1967, suffered a fatal heart attack in October. At midyear, Major Joseph Gardner was named director of army instruction on campus.

First FHA club organized.

Among the many basic skills covered in the curriculum are those pertaining to family life and individual well-being. In home economics, projects included not only class activities, but such special projects as teas, demonstrations, dressing dolls for underprivileged children (reached through the Salvation Army) and comparing each other's baby pictures.

Future Homemakers of America, open to all previous or present homemaking students, was organized at midyear by the homemaking instructors. Prospective members were welcomed to the first meeting with a get-acquainted tea.

Press time.

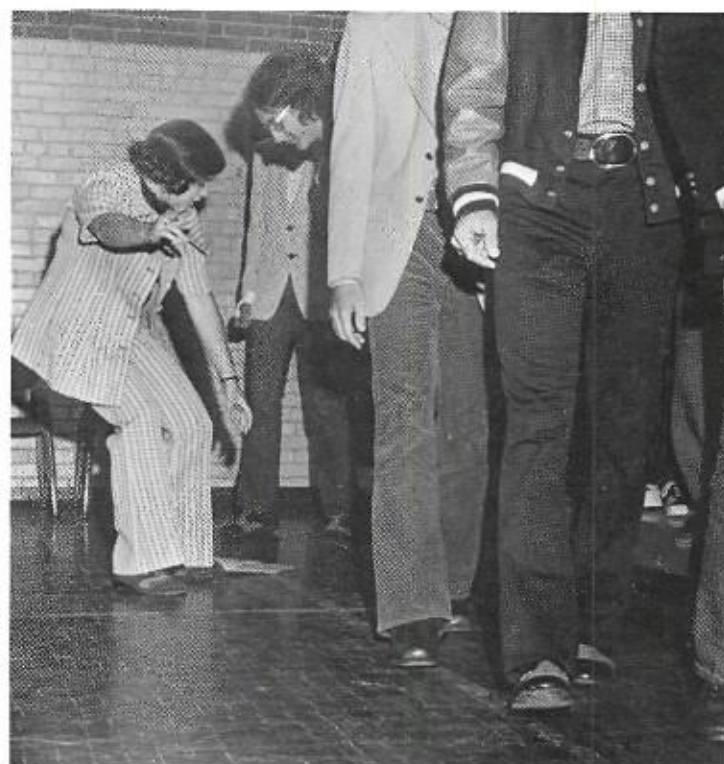

Publications Department this year drafted a new style surrounding the Bruin, based principally on taking underclassmen pictures in school. Seniors continued to have portraits made at Barnett's Studio, as was the previous policy for all three classes.

The radio program was continued under the direction of Bobby Stephens, heard Wednesday nights on KWHN-KMAG and Saturday nights on KFPW.

Classes plan for growth.

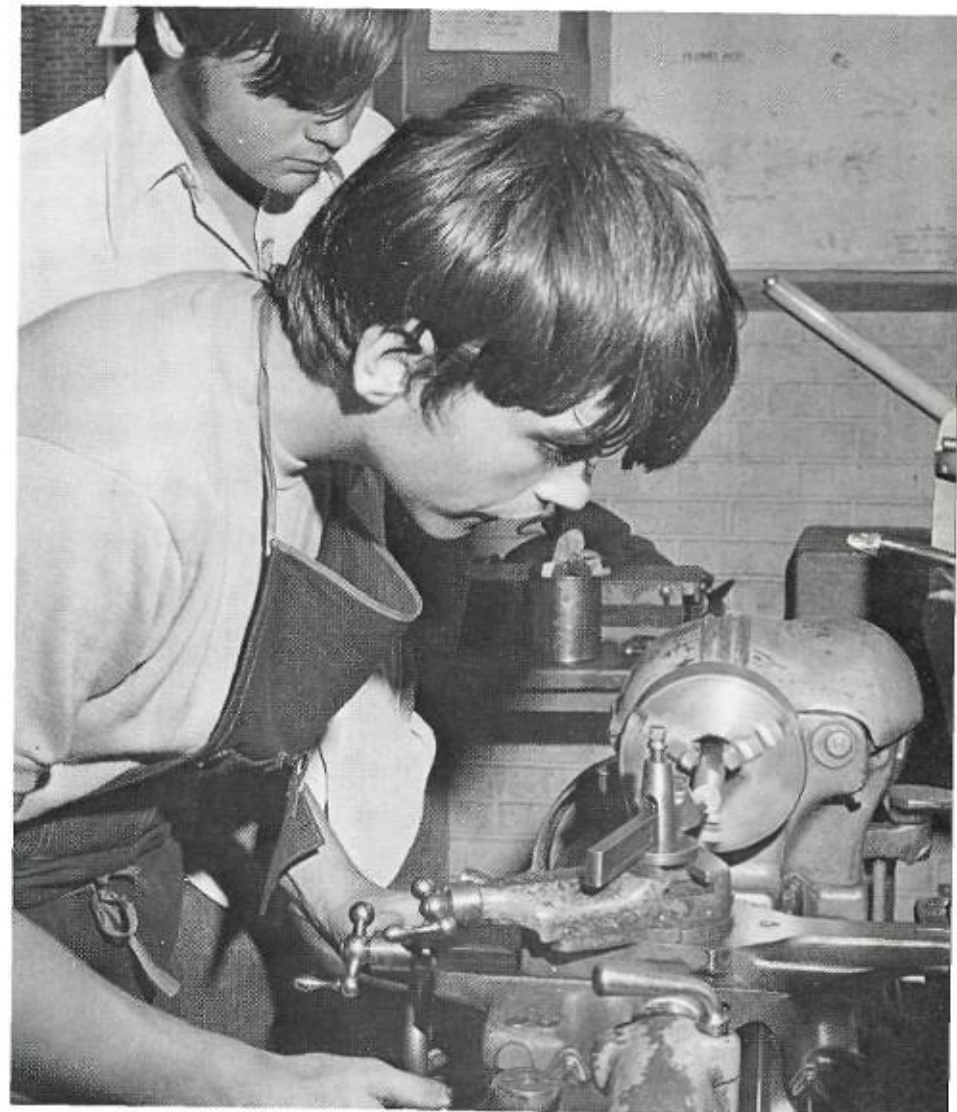

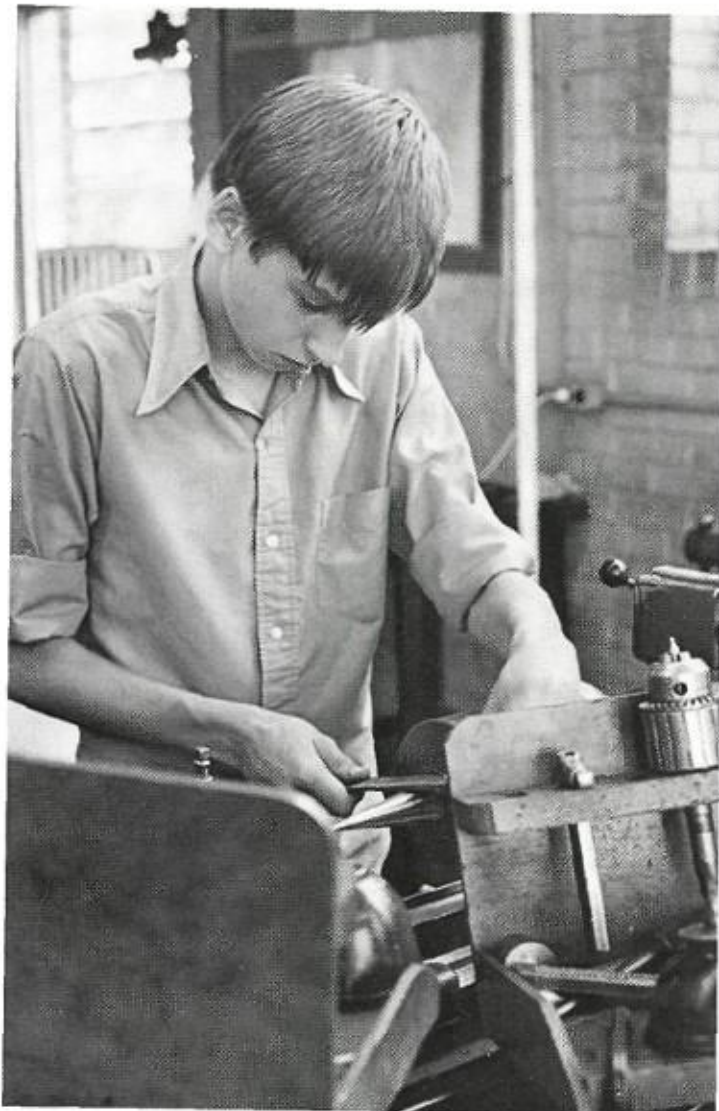

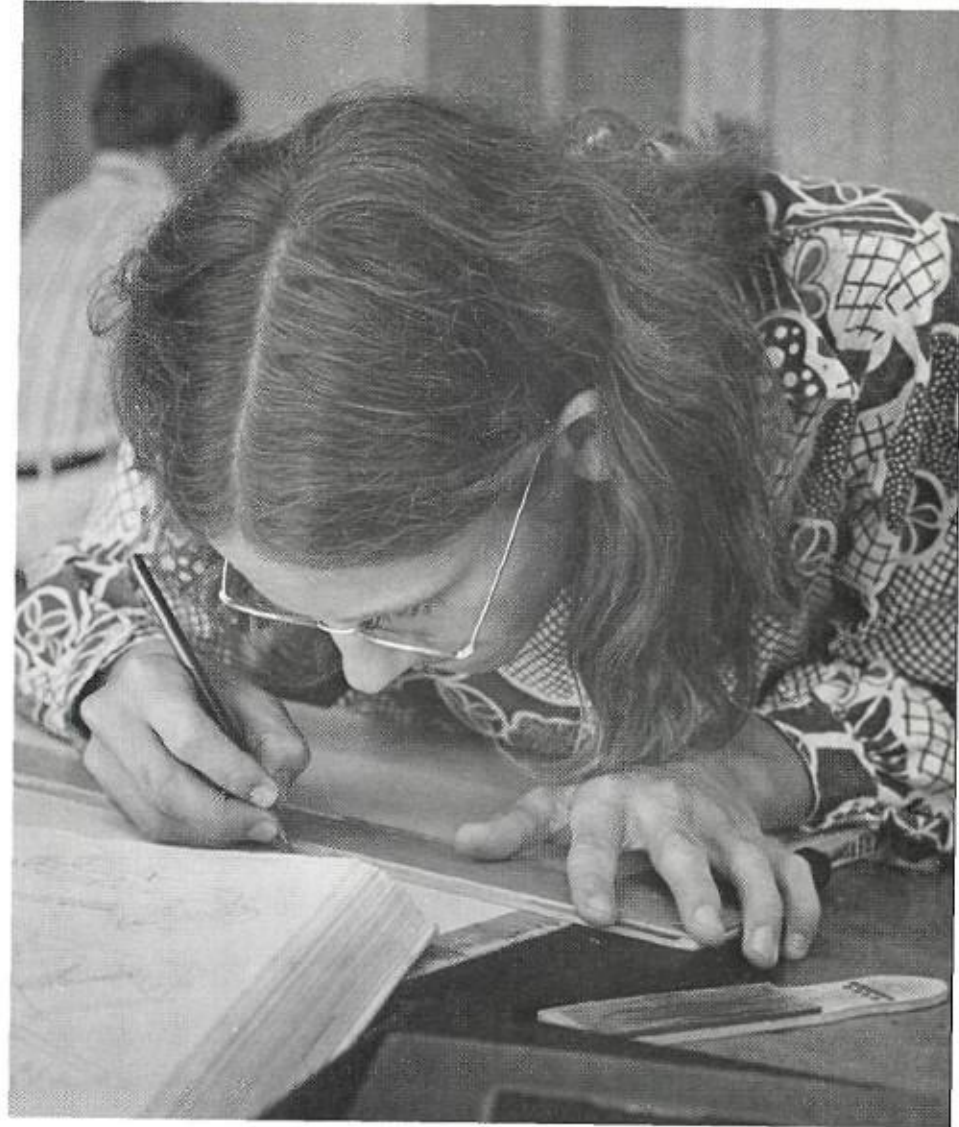

With Fort Smith now a port city where industrial growth is expected, vocationally inclined students have an opportunity to take courses in printing, drafting, metalworking and woodworking.

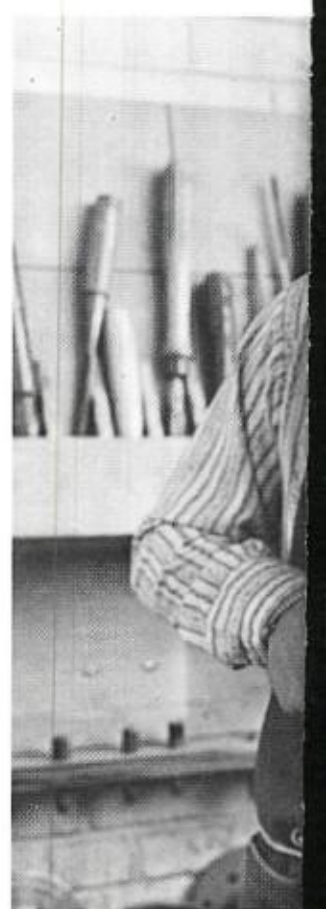

The Grizzly Press offers advanced job training for those in printing, with many ready for jobs in the printing business upon graduation.

The drafting courses, offering advanced training, for six consecutive years have won the architectural division of the state industrial arts fair. For the past three years the Northside vocational classes have won first place in the over-all competition.

Workshop plus.

Planning, patience, perseverance, work, then the finished project. These are the primary measures that go into the projects of woodworking students under the instruction of Nolan Mainus, who believes that woodworking is a course where boys, not subjects, are taught.

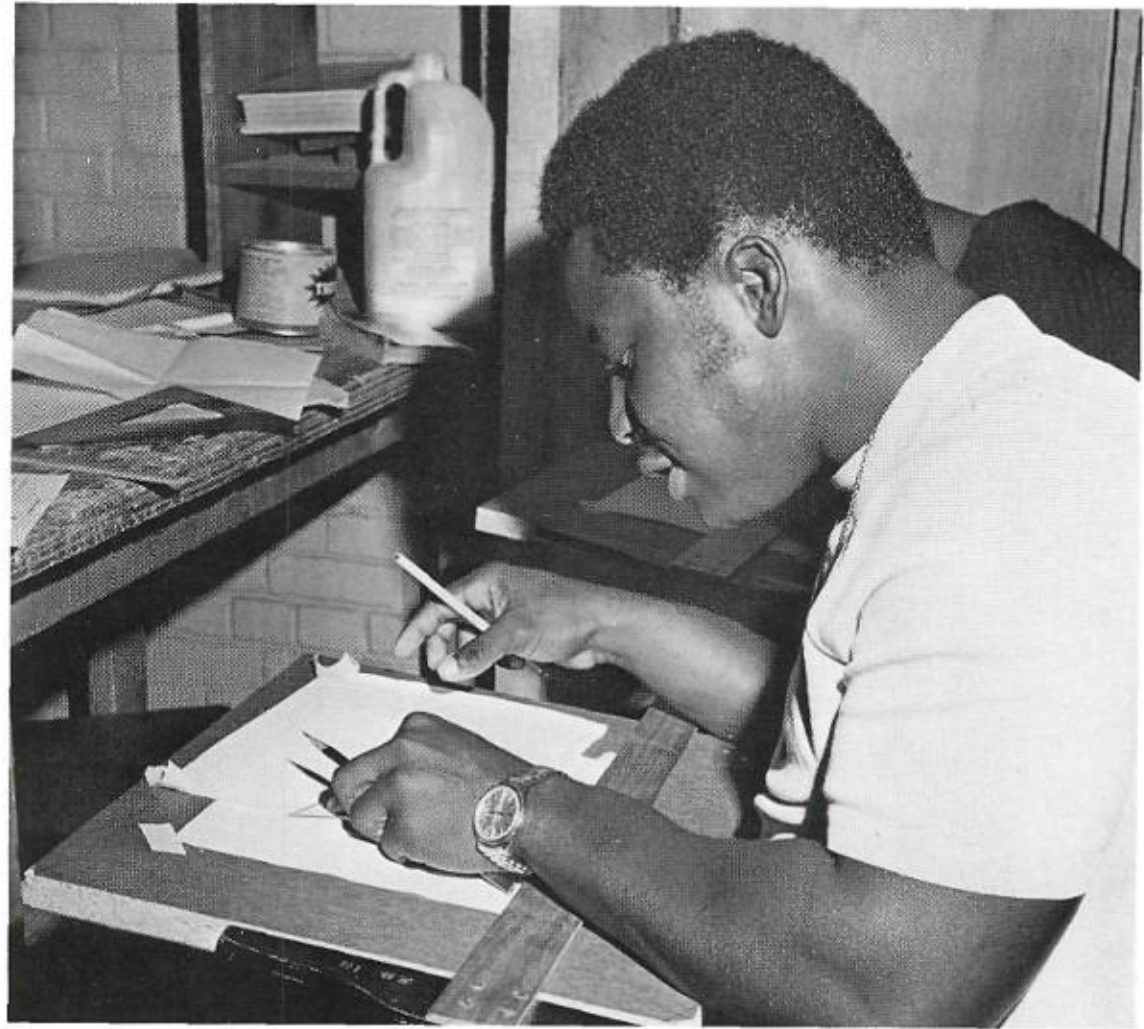

Woodworking is a class that serves many purposes. It is here that students learn the necessity of planning and design, and here that students acquire an understanding of the correct methods of operation of the various tools in the shop. Here they learn basic skills which could be put to use the rest of their lives. Woodworking, under Mr. Mainus, is a class where students can develop a sense of pride and personal satisfaction in the finished object.

Besides proving beneficial, a class in woodworking can serve as a time of enjoyment, where basic fundamentals are covered and then put to practice in projects. Students work at their own pace to see their plans take shape.

Unloading materials is part of the job . . . All work begins with a plan . . . Manual labor goes hand in hand with output . . . Products are fashioned from tools . . . Instructions lead to perfection.

Choral music

Northside's Choral Department, under the direction of Miss Edna Earle Massey, was kept busy with schedules of performances for Northside, as well as for the city's clubs and organizations, beginning with the city choral festival in October. The department, again this year, spread yuletide spirit to Phoenix and Central Malls by caroling for shoppers. Keeping with Northside's winning tradition, 18 students were selected to perform in the all-region choir and compete for all-state honors.

Wood and strings.

Fort Smith Youth String Orchestra

With a combination of woodwind, brass and percussion players from junior and senior high bands, the Fort Smith Youth String Orchestra is now in its fourth year. Four Northsiders are in the group.

Four concerts are performed by the orchestra each year plus performances at churches and meetings of such organizations as the Parent-Teacher Association.

Other activities include attending the Junior and Senior Clinic at State College of Arkansas, Arkansas School Band and Orchestra Festival, and a special clinic held at the University of Arkansas each year.

Queen Marci Hinds

A crown for Marci.

Against a background of dimmed lights and the traditional "Hearts and Flowers," Queen Marci Hinds was escorted by David McKinney to the center of a heart formation of band members to be crowned the 14th annual band queen.

Surrounded by her four-member court—Leslie Chaffin, Linda Dooly, Cindy McKenzie and Gayle Shaver—Marci was crowned by William N. Shaver III, director of the Grizzly Band.

Coronation festivities, preceding the Pine Bluff game, climaxed a week-long ticket-selling campaign in which approximately $2,072 was raised for the Grizzly Band program. Queen Marci accounted for approximately half of this amount.

The ceremony was September 22.

Behind all this a plan and a program.

Administration

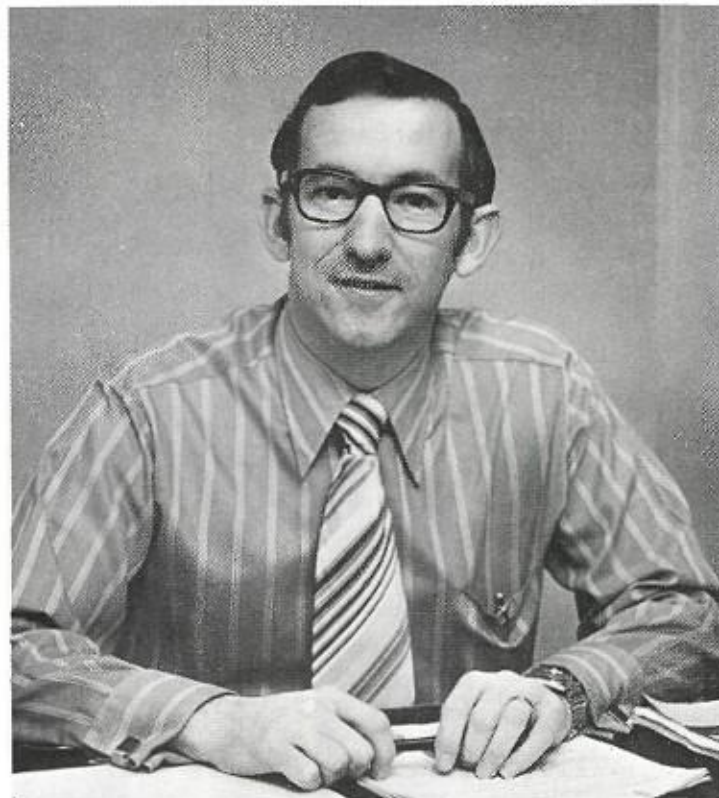

If, as has been said, "extracurricular activities are the icing on the academic cake," the importance of the "cake" is taken for granted. The supplying and maintaining of that "cake" is the concern of the administrative staff in the Fort Smith Public School System, headed by Dr. C. B. Garrison, superintendent.

"Education is the foundation of American technology, economy, government and culture," Dr. Garrison says. "It is also the single most significant factor in the progress of a community. Fort Smith is noted for its progress in health services, industrial-commercial growth, ports, parks, highways and airports. I believe it will continue to be noted for its 'good' schools."

Others whose assignments are closely related to Northside are Ralph B. Riley, deputy superintendent; Calvin G. Patterson, director of secondary education; and Dr. Johnny Owen, administrative assistant and federal coordinator.

Why does school start earlier every year?
Why don't we have more half holidays?
Why do we have to have a study hall?
Why are lunch periods so short?
Why don't we have more parking space?
Why doesn't somebody do something about . . . ?

"Somebody" has to answer these questions, and in Fort Smith that somebody is the school board. Consisting of seven members whose terms are staggered, the board tries to solve the problems of providing what the community wants in its schools with the funds available.

Board members for the 1972-'73 school year were Dr. Neil Crow, president; Douglas O. Smith, vice-president; Mrs. Kathryn Boulden, secretary; E. J. (Cotton) Embry, W. Jack Ross, David E. Stubblefield and Mrs. Blanche P. Tinder.

Board problems that were areas of special concern to Northside during the year included the question of purchasing additional property adjoining the campus for student parking, the study of bus service for public schools and the perennial question of the incinerator. In curriculum expansion, 120 Northsiders participated in the career guidance program at Westark Community College.

Questions, questions, questions. Decisions, decisions, decisions.

Officially speaking.

This is R. Earl Farnsworth's last year at Northside, as he retires after 24 years as Skipper in Bear Country—and he will be missed.

The welcome mat at his office door, the Skipper sign, the books, the curios, the mementos, Farnsworth Gardens—how much these describe Mr. Farnsworth to those who know him.

Everything in his office represents a memorable occasion in his experience or holds a special place in the history of Northside.

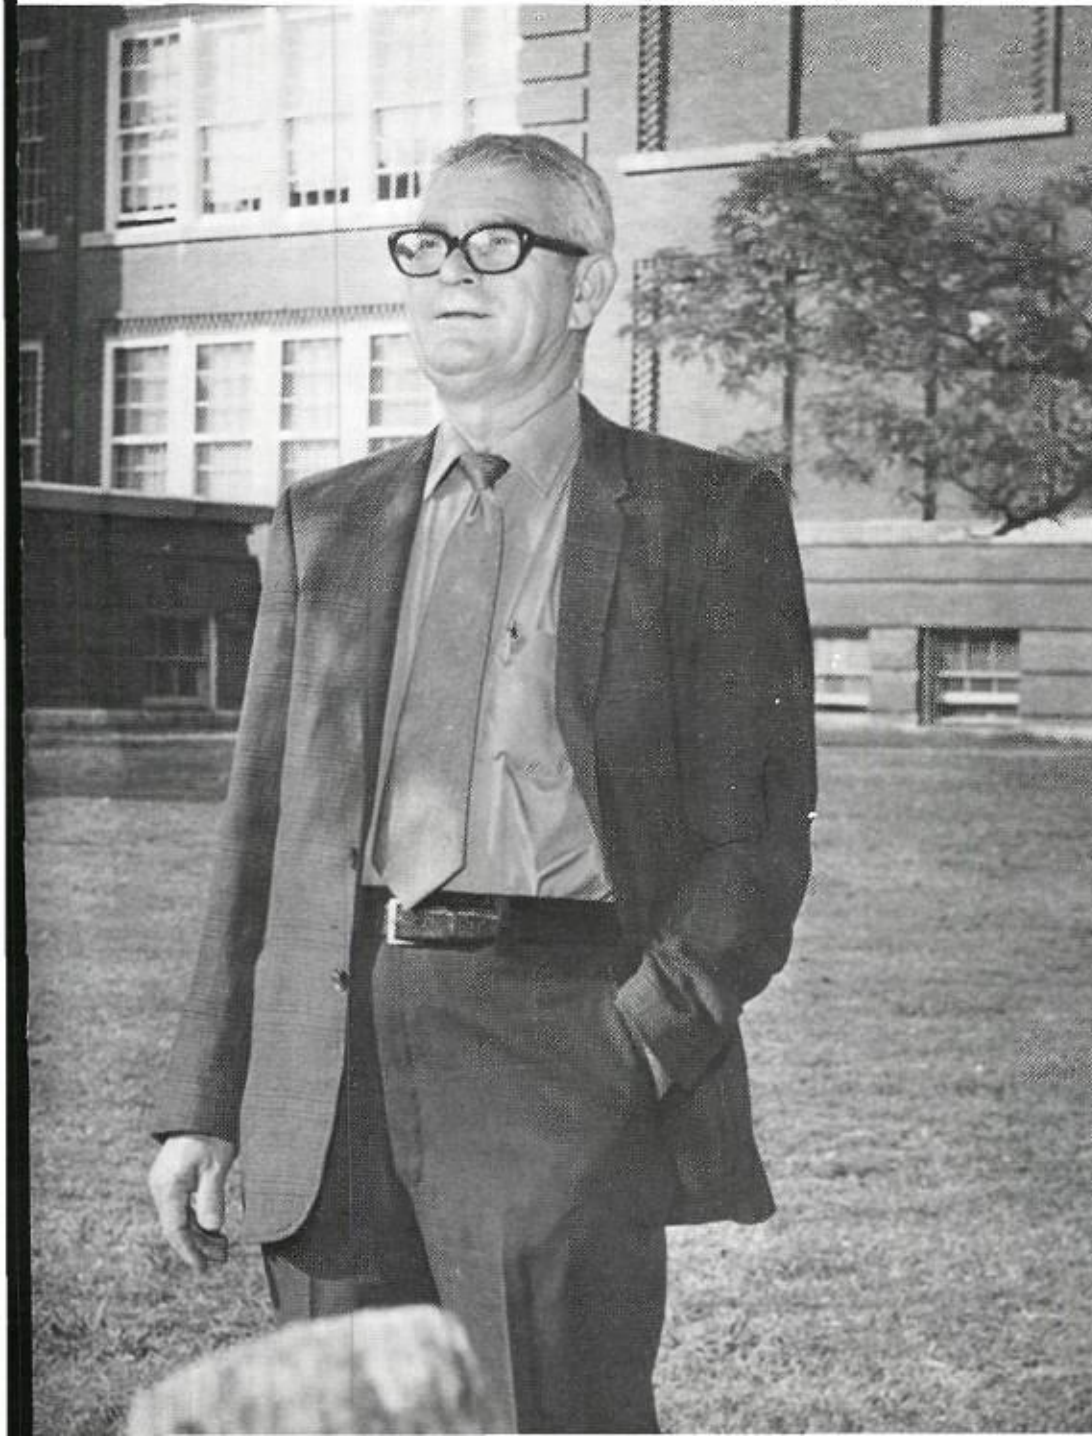

Mr. Farnsworth is an educator who believes in the importance of knowing students on a one-one basis, and stresses the importance of the good life and love for people.

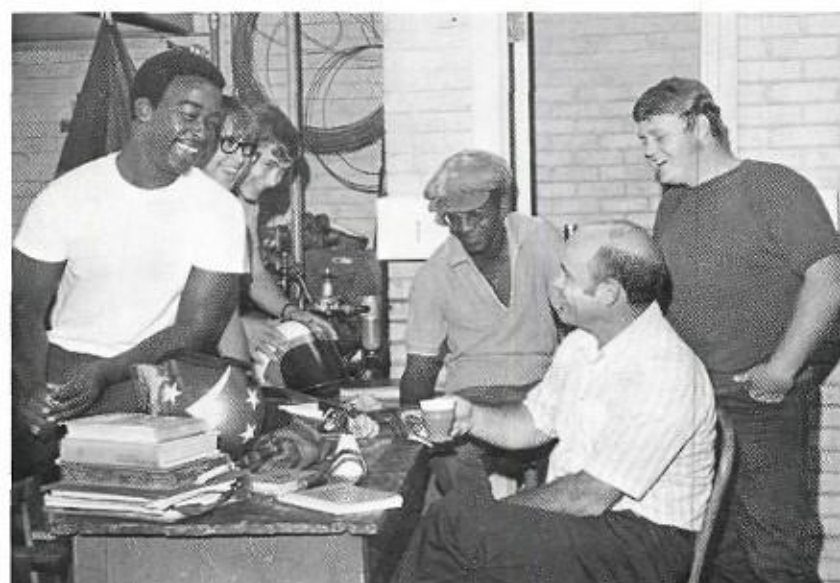

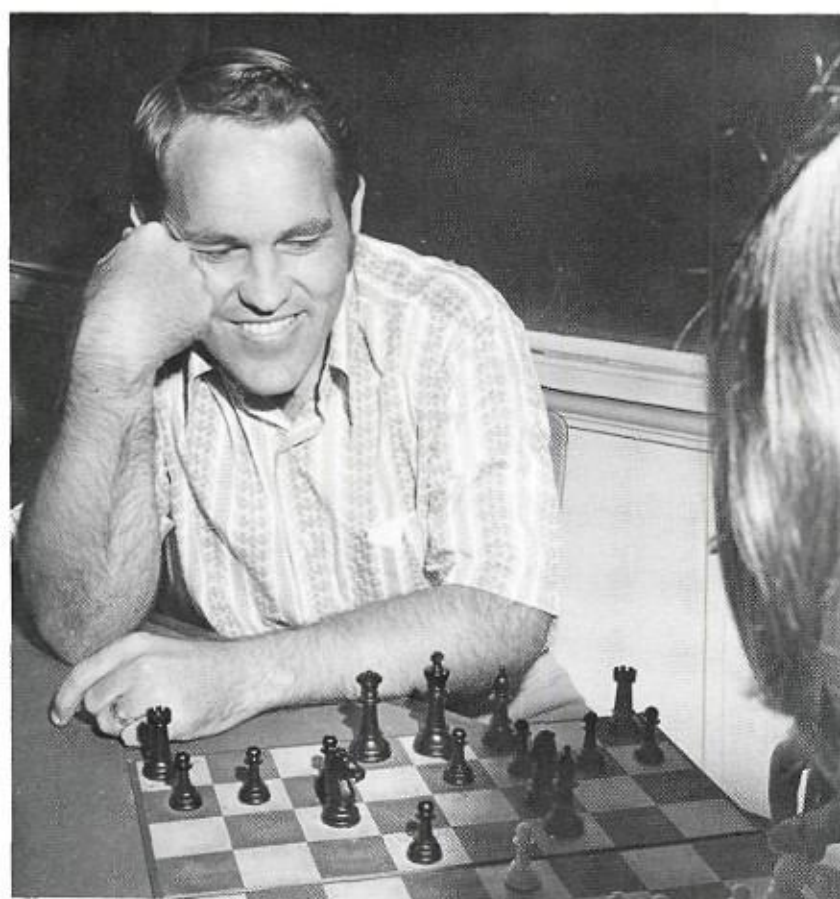

Northside's three deans are Clifton Grace and Bill C. Bardrick, who are also assistant principals, and Mrs. Dale Bennett. Their work is concerned with the discipline and counseling area, but they are also involved in parent-teacher conferences.

Realizing the importance of a student's life at Northside, the deans try to aid students in making decisions for a better, more beneficial future. The guidance department covers general testing, record keeping, scheduling of classes and personal guidance to "help the student recognize and utilize his various potentialities while in school."

Faculty

"Teachers are requested to..." This was a familiar greeting to 81 instructors as they entered Northside each morning of the 1972-'73 school year—a year filled not only with the demands of a newly expanded academic program, but as the staff puts it, many other "reSPONSORibilities." Six new teachers joined the staff in August, along with one addition at mid-term the previous year and two reassignments.

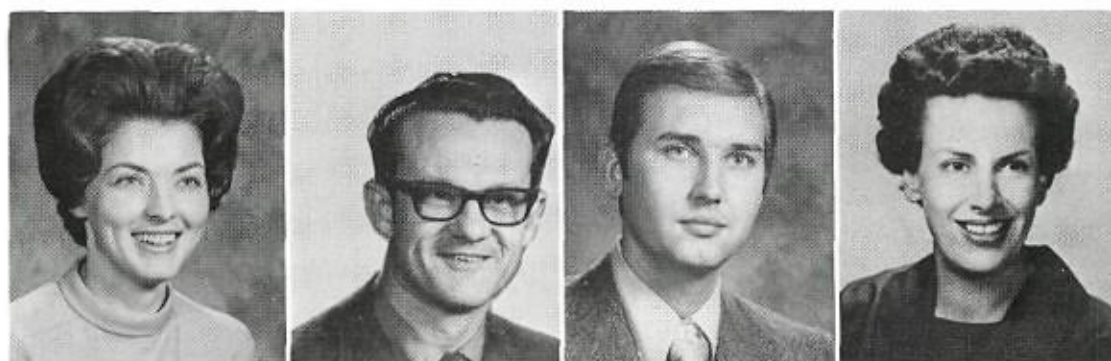

New faculty members are Miss Linda Boen, Mrs.

Gary Brockway, Mrs. Ruby Hile, Miss Gail Jernigan, Jerry Moore and Mrs. Polly Oliver. Mrs. Ann Goswick replaced Max Lamb when he retired in '72. Charles Presley moved to occupational careers and Tom Parker joined the distributive education program.

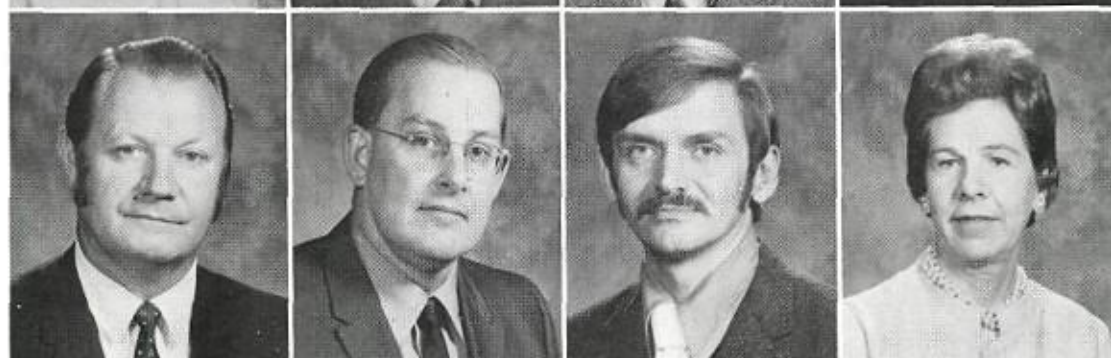

In January '73 Major Joseph Gardner assumed command of the Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps, succeeding Colonel Choice R. Rucker, who had suffered a fatal heart attack the preceding October.

Star of Northside

Before this fall, Northsiders had to look to Hollywood or Washington, D.C. to find well-known TV stars. But now this school has its own "star-in-residence," R. Earl Farnsworth. The 44-year veteran educator was featured on "Arkansas: November," a documentary, on KATV, Channel 7, Little Rock. Two reporters spent an afternoon at Northside November 14, interviewing the principal as he reflected on his career. How did the star review the production? "They did very well," he commented, "considering what they had to work with."

Paint the town red.

Alpha Rho Tau

Alpha Rho Tau displayed that Grizzly winning, number one spirit this football homecoming and came up with a first-place float again this year. Hard work, determination, a little imagination and a variety of talents paid off in a float featuring Fred Bonerhead and Joe Blow as two deceased Chargers to whom the Grizzlies paid their "respects."

This same winning drive carried Alpha Rho Tau members through their money-making ceramic-bear-making project and on to New Orleans for their annual field trip. Leading the Art Club in these pursuits, Miss Linda Boen served as sponsor; Cathy Crouch, president; Jamie Collier, vice-president; Sally Wenderoth, secretary; and Peggy Hachtmeyer, treasurer.

Officers were Bobby Stephens, president; Kevin Martin, vice-president; Valerie Hatfield, secretary; David Chapman, treasurer; and Wayman Covey, sentinel. Near midyear the club was discontinued since it was agreed that club activities could be carried out by the JROTC staff. Mark Silvers served as battalion commander this year. Sponsors elected in early fall and again at second quarter included Valerie Hatfield, Sandy Melton, Mary Dejesus, Sandra Tidwell, Diane Bradley and Karen Brown.

Cooperative Office Education

Cooperative Office Education is a program that allows Northside students an opportunity to work in the offices of local businesses in order to gain experience and put to practice skills learned in the classroom. Members of COE traveled to Little Rock for the State Leadership Conference in April, where COE students from all over Arkansas met to compete in areas of office skills and procedures.

Deborah Lane served as president; Linda Sangster, vice-president; Nita Boles, secretary-treasurer; and Teresa Dickens, reporter. Sponsor is Mrs. Sandra Anderson. Fund-raising projects, including a candy sale at the first of the year, helped the chapter finance their annual employer-employee banquet in early spring.

Year leads off with mums.

Columbians

An eggshell, an olive, a lemon, a paper clip—these are only a few items for which Columbian pledges searched during their initiation-scamper hunt. After initiation, the Columbians began their year of activities by selling the traditional homecoming mums. Other activities included decorating a Christmas tree, giving a basket of food to a needy family, and sponsoring a Christmas tea for the faculty. Columbians also prepared singing valentines for February 14.

This year's officers were president, Nita Vines; vice-president, Gina Vines; secretary, Cheryl Rutledge; treasurer, Karen Woolbright; and parliamentarian, Ann Warmack. The group was sponsored by Mrs. Dale Bennett.

Was ist Die Deutsche Gesellschaft?

For the club's 103 members, it is the annual "spooky" Halloween initiation given by second- and third-year members, entry of a car in the homecoming parade, a canned food drive for the needy, a collection of clothing and toys for an "adopted" family at Christmas and traditional banquets at Emmy's German Restaurant.

Officers for the year included Laura Ferrier, president; Lynette Potts, vice-president; Sally Crisp, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. John Wilkinson, known to Northside as Frau, sponsor.

Don Quijote

Veinte hombres contentos formed the Don Quijote Club of '72-'73, a member of the Spanish National Honor Society. At Christmas, the club united forces with the other language classes of Northside to entertain the faculty at a foreign language tea. Spanish dishes served included flan, quesillo, bichoas, bodas and sopapaillas. Money-making projects for the Don Quijote were doughnut and mistletoe sales. For Pan American Week, the club sponsored an assembly for the student body.

Officers were Darrell Durbrow, president; Karen Nowacki, vice-president; Lois Patton, secretary; and John Lenington, sponsor. To become a member of the Don Quijote, one must be enrolled in a Spanish class or have completed one year of Spanish.

Future Business Leaders of America

Succe$$ for tomorrow $tart$ today—this could well be the theme for this year's FBLA.

Now in its second year, the club's 33 members gathered on Thursdays "to strive to prepare to become business leaders of the future." The club's activities included a summer workshop in Little Rock, participation in the March of Dimes Walkathon, Toys for Tots during Christmas and a second-place homecoming entry in the parade.

Officers for the year were Mike Banks, president; Martha Smith, vice-president; Debbie Lane, recorder; Gina Smith, reporter; Marilee Sparks, historian; Brenda Barnwell, treasurer; and Mrs. Susan McDonald and Mrs. Sandra Anderson, co-sponsors. Installation of these officers was held at Westark in early November.

FBLA members and sponsors braved the rain and cold weather to collect money for the March of Dimes. The roadblocks, set at various intersections in Fort Smith, netted over $1,000.

Future Teachers of America

Future Teachers of America, otherwise known as fun-time amateurs growing up to be professionals, began its year with 13 students participating in the 24th annual candle lighting ceremony in initiation of membership in November.

Kelly Miller, serving as president, headed the executive board, with vice-president Keith McCollom, secretary Colana Bostic, and treasurer Sherrill Hampton. Wayne Bledsoe and Jerry Moore sponsor the club.

Five students attended the annual Arkansas Education Association Convention in November in Hot Springs. This was first time students had been invited to an AEA convention. Tutors, working with a program sponsored by the Wheeler Boys Club, helped 12 children from Belle Grove and Duval schools with their studies.

Hi-Y

"Paved the way for the 1972-73 school year" was the title given to the Hi-Y this year.

To earn this title, the Hi-Y started with a round of activities for football homecoming, including building the annual Bear-boosting bonfire and supplying cars for the queen and her court in the parade. Other activities followed with the canned food drive for the Salvation Army and door decoration contest at Christmas time, the slave auction in the spring and the Garvin Grizzly awards in May.

Officers were Gary Davis, president; Gary Gunselman, vice-president; Ray Gunselman, secretary-treasurer; Jack Callender, chaplin, and Frank Blair, sponsor. Karen Woolbright was elected sweetheart.

All this plus campouts where members escaped the stress and strain of the school week to enjoy the clean mountain air.

Although much of the year was directed toward preparation for the state-wide industrial arts fair, held in Monticello the first week end in May, the Northside Industrial Arts Club still had time for regular club activities. Northside's drafting department has captured the first place distinction for the last seven years and holds the best over-all project of the fair award for the last three years.

Major money-making projects for the club were the annual pie-eating contest and the bicycle race, which was a tricycle race until this year. Funds from these activities helped sponsor a club camping trip during the Easter vacation. Officers for this year were James Wilson, president; Tommy Carson, vice-president; Mike Marrs, treasurer; Robert Costillo, secretary; and James Neely, sponsor. Robert Costillo also served as secretary for the state Industrial Arts organization. Club members offered their services to the auditorium remodeling committee, to prepare drawings needed for construction purposes.

New year, new projects.

Junior Exchange

From spreading the spirit of "Beat Southside Week" to remodeling the state map in the field house, the Junior Exchange filled the year with projects old and new. Under the leadership of Doug McAllister, president, activities began with the annual door decoration contest before the Bruin-Rebel clash, followed by the buying of a new banner for the annual Teacher of the Year Award and the "Know Your School" assembly in the spring. Other officers included the vice-president, Robert Earl Smith; secretary, Mike Conger; and treasurer Andre Soucy. Cathee Crain was selected as sweetheart. Wayne Bledsoe is sponsor. For basketball homecoming the club sponsored a pep bonfire.

On judging day, the judges—Robert Smith, Doug McAllister and Andre Soucy—chose Room 104. The contest helped promote spirit for "Beat Southside Week."

Latin Club renamed.

Chi Lambda

Chi Lambda—a new club at Northside? No, a new name for the Latin club this year to designate a broadened program to cover all ancient civilizations. Celebrations of Saturnalia, Ides of March, and Rome's birthday were special features of the year.

Officers for '72-'73 were David Turner, president; Danny Tedder, vice-president; Wendy Welch, secretary-treasurer. Miss Cecilia Kaelin is sponsor.

Le Cercle Francais

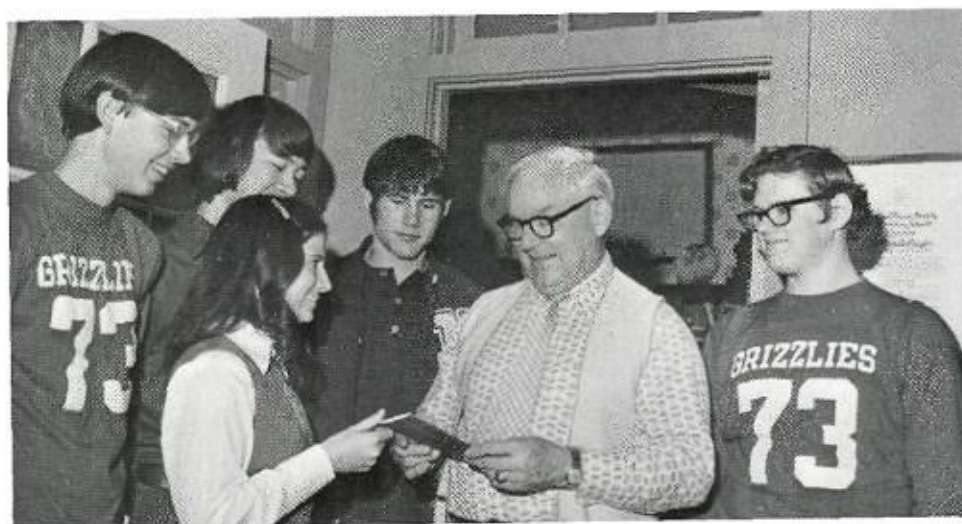

For members of Le Cercle Francais, this was a year of "activite et participation." After the annual initiation of new members, the French Club participated in the homecoming parade by making the traditional bicycle ride down Garrison Avenue. Other activities included French folk dancing, a paper drive, a French fair and a masquerade dance celebrating Mardi Gras. The French Club also participated in the teacher's Christmas tea sponsored by the language departments. The 1972-'73 French Club officers were president, Nancy Johnson; vice-president, Josie Journey; secretary, Betty Uzman; treasurer, Peggy Cochenour; parliamentarian, Giff Douglas, Miss Lenore Swearingen is sponsor.

Key Club celebrated its silver anniversary at Northside this year. The 12 members continued their annual projects, decorating goal posts at football games, holding a Mr. and Mrs. Valentine contest in February, sponsoring the annual intramural basketball tournament and compiling the student directory. This was the first year that they were able to print the book themselves. The first copy was presented to Principal R. Earl Farnsworth as a special recognition.

The officers for the club were James Gallaher, president; Curtis Shankle, vice-president; Martin Cruce, secretary; Robert McAdams, treasurer; and Earl Zechiedrich sponsor. Sheri Curlin was elected sweetheart.

Northside Confederation of Black Students

Negro History—what it is, where it began, and what it has to do with Northside was what the Northside Confederation of Black Students was all about this year. In accordance with this, NCBS organized and presented Negro History Week to the student body, climaxing it with an African Heritage assembly to explain the purpose of Negro History Week and honor distinguished black Americans.

NCBS directed the Miss Black Heritage competition once again this year with the help of Mrs. Mary Julia Head, F. M. Ware and Jerry Johnson, sponsors. Other activities included participation in the football homecoming parade, a coffee for Northside teachers and, as a main project, a money-raising auction.

Officers elected for the '72-'73 school year were Eddie Rogers, president; Candace Davis, vice-president; Corliss Banks, secretary; and Mary Roberts, treasurer.

"The main purpose of the organization," stated R. Earl Farnsworth about the National Honor Society, "is to recognize scholarship."

Highlighted by a traditional evening candlelight ceremony—held February 26 in conjunction with the annual open house—42 initiates were inducted into the Northside chapter. A panel selected of the 36 returning members prepared speeches on "Scholarship," "Leadership," "Character," and "Service." A reception for the members' parents followed.

A 3.75 grade average for sophomores and a 3.50 grade average for juniors and seniors is required for membership.

Para Medical Club

Interested in medicine? Health careers? A little surgery maybe? The Para Medical Club is a club specifically suited to those interests.

The aims of the Para Medical Club this year were to acquaint members with the many careers in medical professions. Guest speakers from the various branches of medicine gave informative lectures concerning their field of medicine. Films also provided an insight to medical careers. Climax of the year was the annual Health Careers Day, an area-wide convention with panels, speakers and a tour of one of the area hospitals. Partners in Christ

What is faith? Who is Jesus? What part does all this play in my life?

These are but a few questions explored this year by the Partners in Christ Club, a Christian-oriented club with the purpose of promoting Christian character and leadership and of creating a wholesome Christian fellowship. Interest and inspiration were brought to club meetings each Monday afternoon by guest speakers and specially planned programs by the officers.

Injuries slow Bears early.

Football

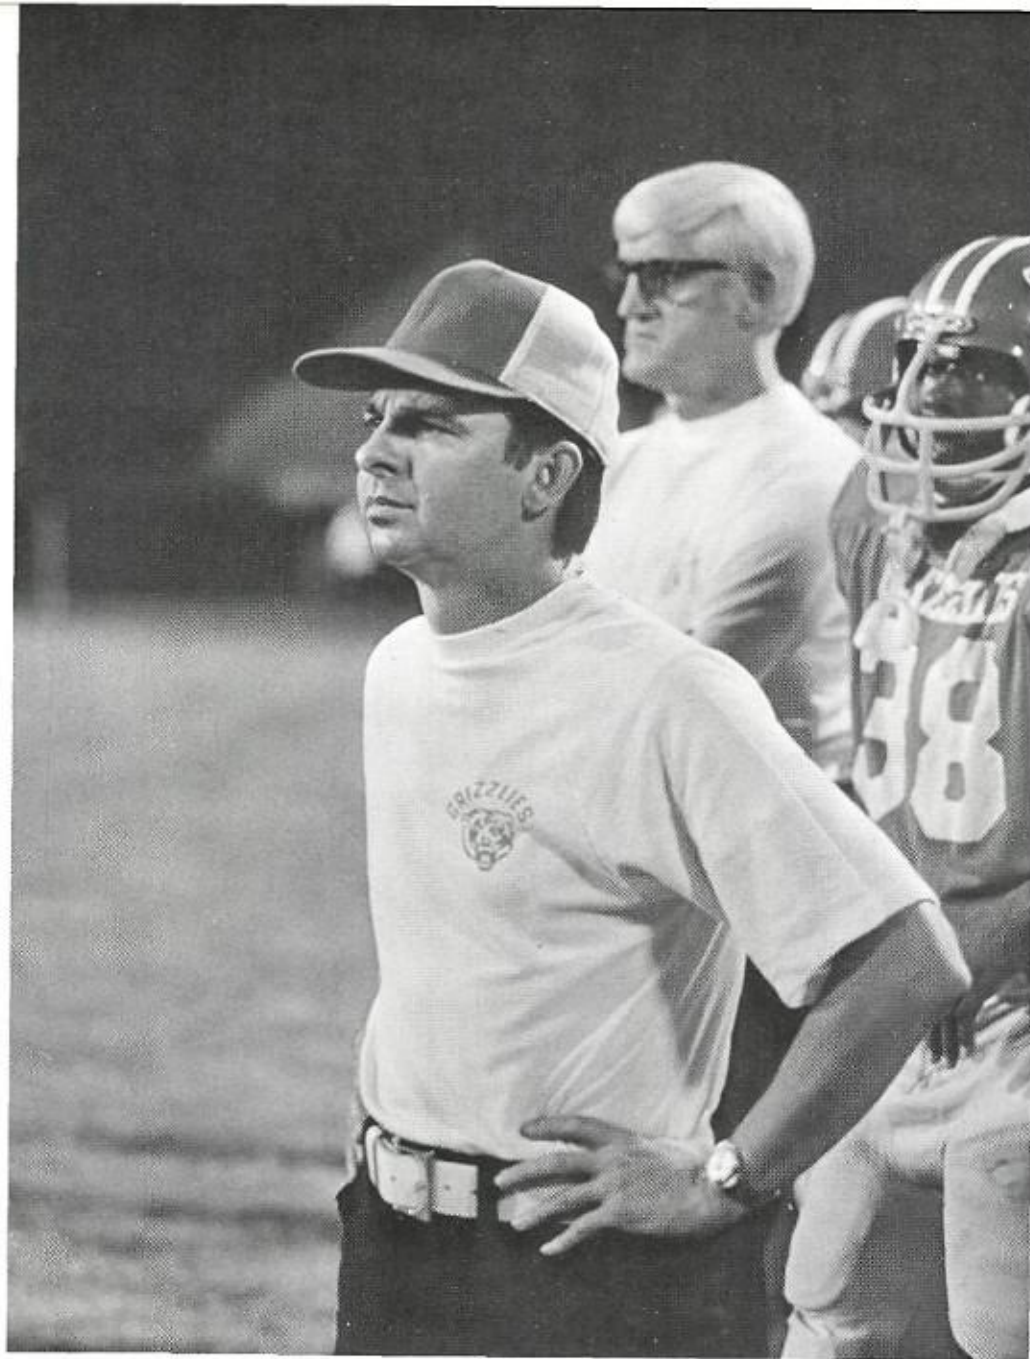

High hopes and dreams of a repeat as the number one team in Arkansas danced through the minds of Northsiders as the '72 football season began. The first game was a see-saw 23-20 victory over the Little Rock Parkview Patriots, who were ranked second in the state at that time. Northside has not lost an opening game since 1954, making the win over the Patriots the Bears' eighteenth in a row. This victory was the first win for new Grizzly football coach Tom Crovella.

In the second game, the Grizzlies shut out the Bears of Little Rock Sylvan Hills, 16-0. As Marianna, the regularly scheduled opponent was unable to field a team for this year, Sylvan Hills was a last-minute replacement.

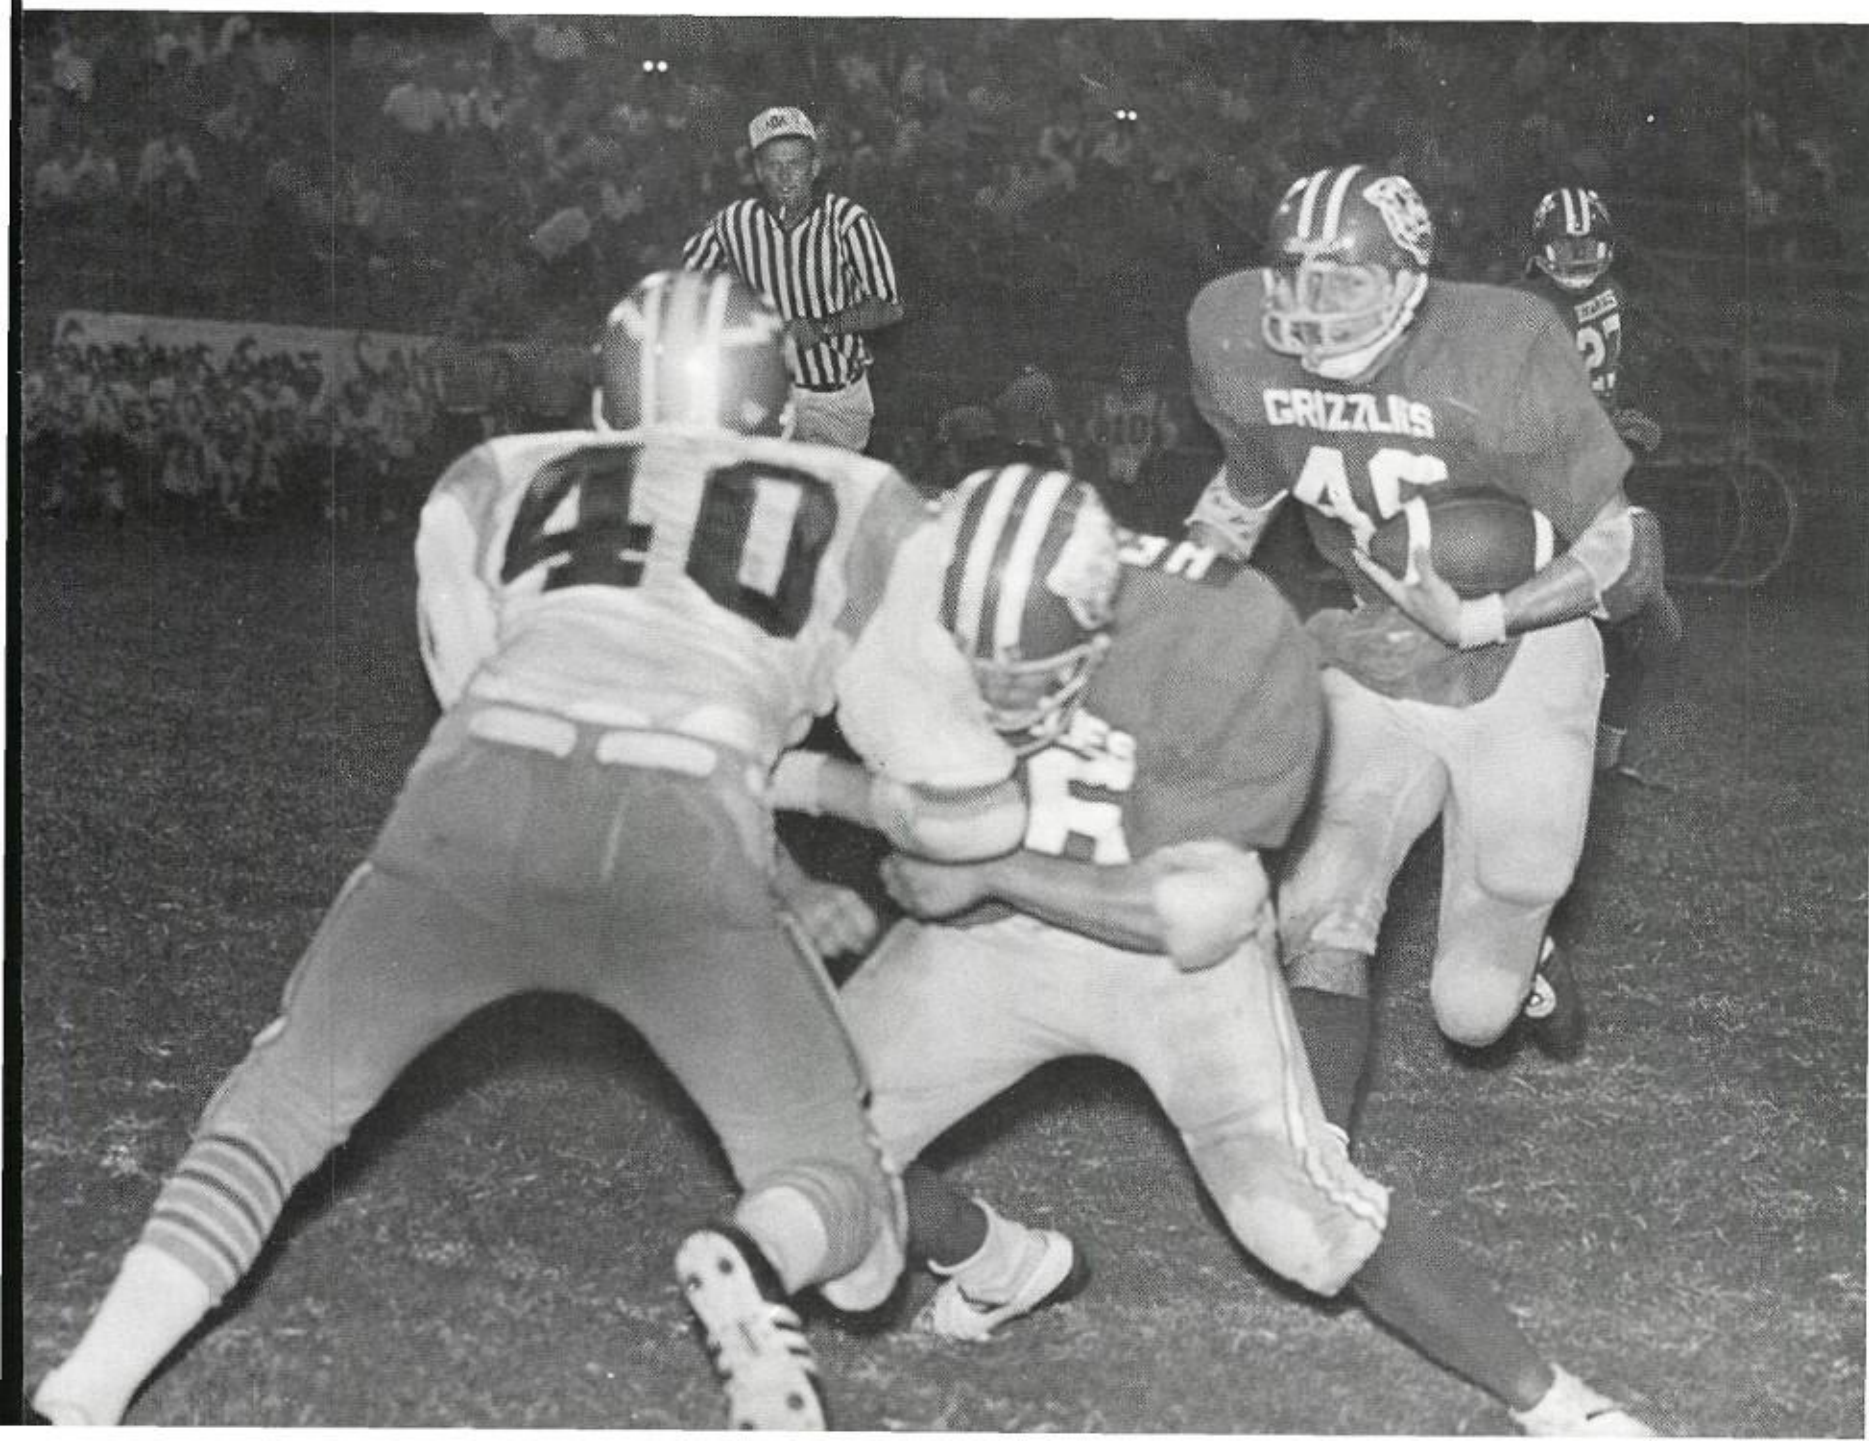

Northside's first loss came at the hands of the El Dorado Wildcats, 13-7, on the Bears' first road game. It was a costly loss, as Northsiders lost their leading rusher for the season, the number one pass receiver, the number two quarterback, a starting linebacker and a defensive lineman. Several other key players were to miss the next game.

With injuries to seven of the 22 starters, the wounded Grizzlies next faced Pine Bluff in a home game. As the first and second string quarterbacks were injured, sophomore Ricky Eakin was called upon to play his first varsity game. The Bears battled the Zebras to a 6-6 deadlock. This was the beginning of a season when many sophomores would be called up to perform for the varsity. An open date provided the injured team a chance to recover.

Conference foes prove rugged.

With injuries and lack of experience at the quarterback position, Daryle Revelle, who normally played basketball and track, came back to quarterback the Bears to a near upset of the Catholic High Rockets. This was Northside's first game of the year to be played on Astro-turf since playing in War Memorial Stadium the previous year. The Grizzlies pulled within one point before a missed PAT ended the scoring 14-13.

Rebounding from their previous heart-breaker, the Grizzlies crushed the Northeast Chargers 30-8 for the Northside 1972 homecoming. During a three-minute span in the second quarter, the Bears exploded for 23 points enroute to their biggest margin of the season.

Played in a cold rain, the next game, against the Roughers at Muskogee, was won in the last seconds of the first half when Harvey Thomas kicked a 38-yard field goal that provided the 17-14 margin of victory. This victory, in the wake of the big win over Northeast, defeated a team that was to go to the finals of the Oklahoma state playoffs.

A two-game win streak was abruptly halted when Little Rock Hall blanked the Grizzlies 27-0 in Mayo Thompson Stadium. This marked the first time that the Bears had been shut out in 188 straight games.

Bears down Southside Rebels.

Northside lost another heartbreaker when the Little Rock Central Tigers scored a go-ahead touchdown with one second remaining. After leading 10-7 late in the fourth quarter, Northside gave up the ball on the Tiger 10-yard line. In less than a minute and a half, Central marched the length of the field and completed a touchdown pass with one second remaining, making the final score 14-10.

Traveling to Little Rock, the Grizzlies faced the number one ranked North Little Rock Ole Main Wildcats in a AAAA conference game. The highly ranked Wildcats were hard pressed to win and led only 16-14 with minutes to play. Ole Main scored a touchdown with seconds left to take the game 22-14.

The annual intra-city clash with Southside saw a standing-room-only crowd witness the closest game in the series between the two schools. A defensive battle followed after the Grizzlies rolled up 10 points and held on to win by the score of 10-8. Northside's victory added up to nine years of frustration for the Rebels, who have never beaten Northside on the football field.

- ← A moving pocket for the passer provides more time for the completion because it gives the quarterback better protection from the rushing linemen.
- ↓ Before running for extra yardage, a receiver must "look the ball into his hands" for a sure reception.
- ← Running room inside the 10-yard line is hard to get, as the defense plays closer to the line than it regularly does.

Cubs finish 3-3.

A running offensive attack and a coordinated defense enabled the Northside Cubs to finish 3-3 under Coach Mickey Johnson, new to the Grizzly staff this year.

"It was a good season, but with a few breaks we could have finished 6-0," commented Coach Johnson. A blocked punt recovered in the end zone by an opponent, a long touchdown pass, and a field goal all in the final minutes cost the Cubs three losses. The defense gave up 57 points, less than 10 points a game, while the offense put 84 points on the scoreboard for an average of 14 points a game.

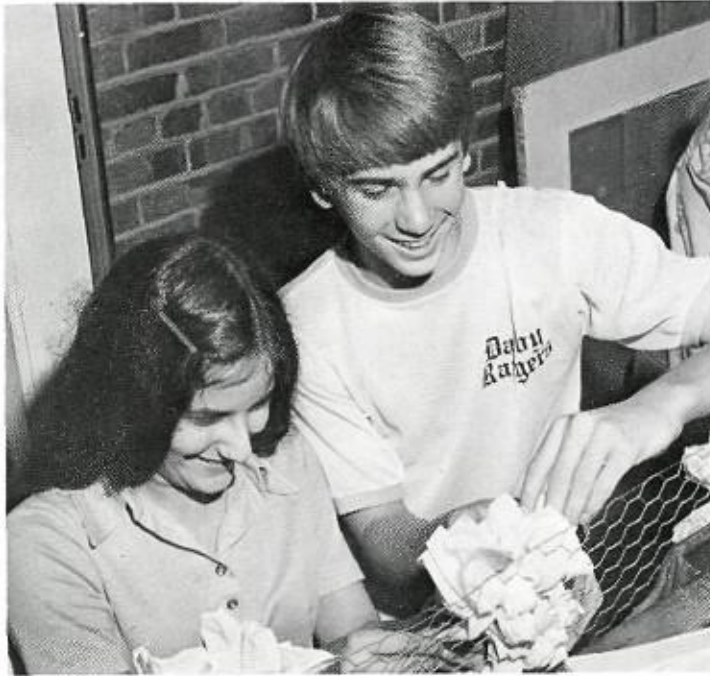

The strength of the defense was a real good team effort and coordination at converging at the ball, according to Coach Johnson. "The offensive strength was the much improved offensive line and running backs," he said. As in the past, Northside kept the ball on the ground and thus prevented costly turnovers from interceptions while keeping their opponents from having the ball. In passing situations, it was sophomore Ricky Eakin dropping into the protective pocket formed by the offensive line and throwing the safe short passes that were usually caught. Thinking ahead to next year, Coach Johnson said, "This group will grow up and become a good Grizzly football team."

Grizzly power and magic charms.

Friday the 13th—usually a day of superstition and bad luck, but in Grizzlyland it was Homecoming '72.

Festivities, centering on the theme "Grizzly Power and Magic Charms," began with a water-balloon-throw after school on Monday, followed the rest of the week by "Beat Chargers Day," "Find the Lucky Charm Day" and "Bring a Lucky Charm Day." Friday was designated by the Student Council as Red and White Day, beginning with the morning pep assembly and the parade down Garrison Avenue in the afternoon. Spirit was boosted for the game during the assembly by class competition with the seniors coming through to win the Spirit Stick. The seniors also won first place in the float competition, climaxing their last football homecoming with "Victory is in the cards."

A victory dance featuring "Magic Sounds" was held in the cafeteria to celebrate the Bears' 30-8 win over the Northeast Chargers.

Basketball

Ending their regular season of play with a 20-5 record, the best overall in the AAAA conference, the Grizzlies headed for the state tournament in Little Rock's Barton Coliseum. In the March 1 encounter, the Bears lost 46-48 to LR Catholic in overtime.

Six returning lettermen led the Bruins to an 11-5 conference slate. Four of these—Tom Carson, Wesley Kaundart, Jerry Taylor and Tony Gilyard—started at one time or another last year. The other lettermen are Daryl Revelle and Ronald Brewer.

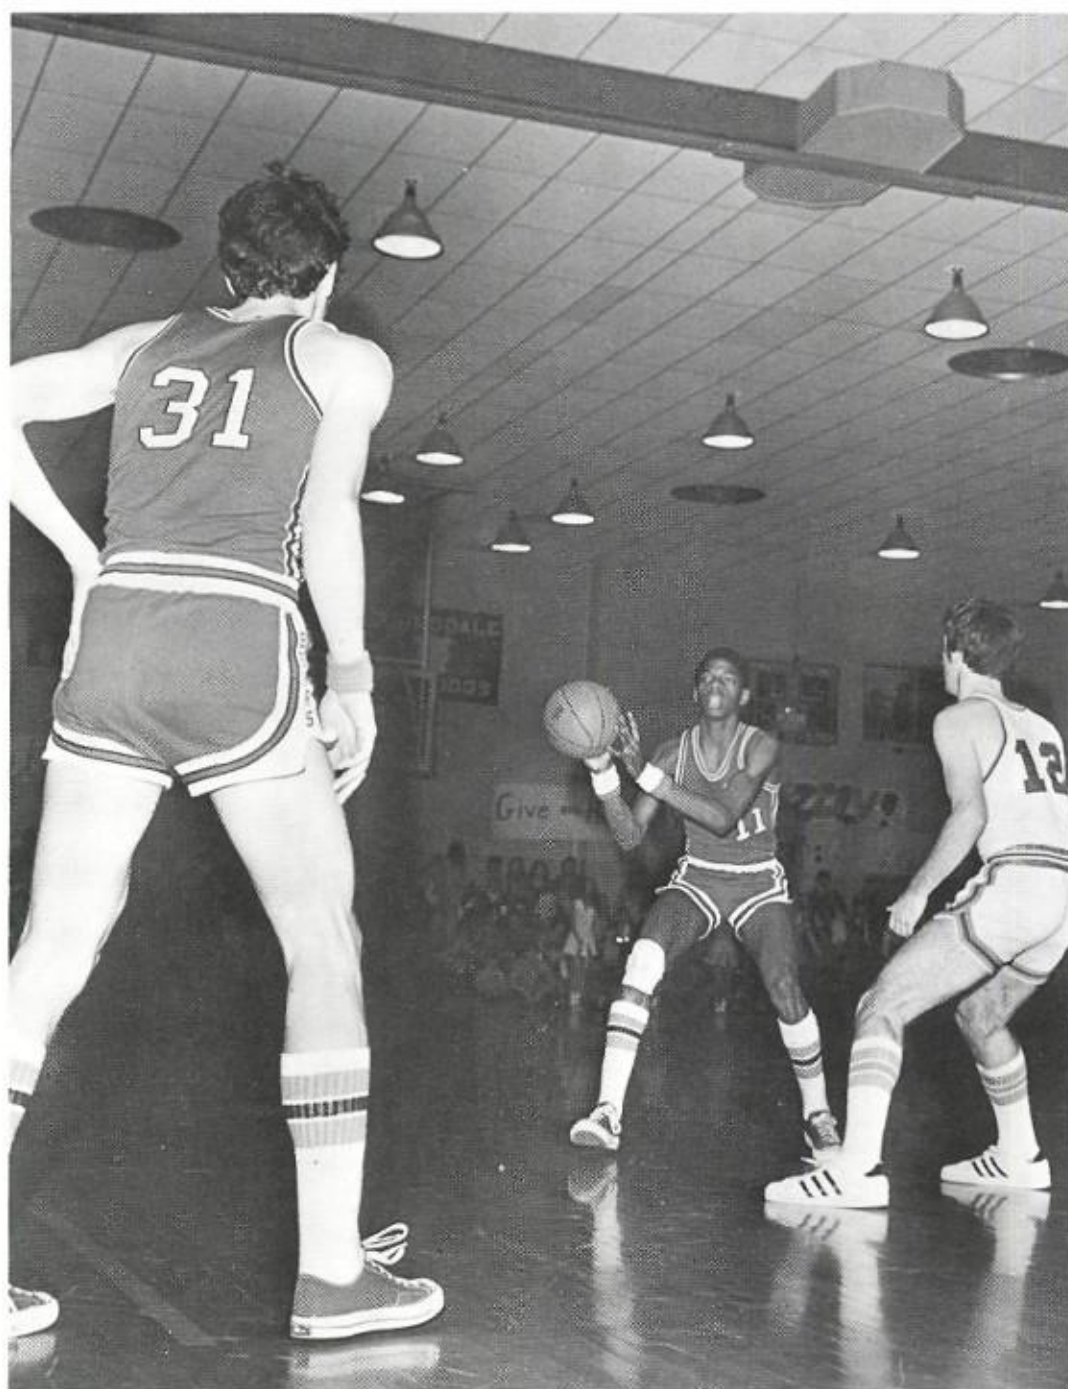

Northside captured 13 wins before falling to Pine Bluff in midyear. The first 13 victories came over Mena, Subiaco, Fayetteville, and Van Buren, twice; El Dorado, Charleston, NLR Northeast, Hall, Southside, Parkview, NLR Ole Main. Other Grizzly wins were over Southside, LR Catholic, twice; LR Central, Northeast, El Dorado and Pine Bluff. The Bears lost to Hall, Parkview, Ole Main and Central.

At the close of the season, league coaches commented that the Grizzlies have three of the best outside shooters in the state—Carson, Kaundart and Brewer.

Including this year, the Bruins have finished with a win record of 20 or better nine times in the past 18 years, with five number one ratings in the state polls.

Cubs win 21.

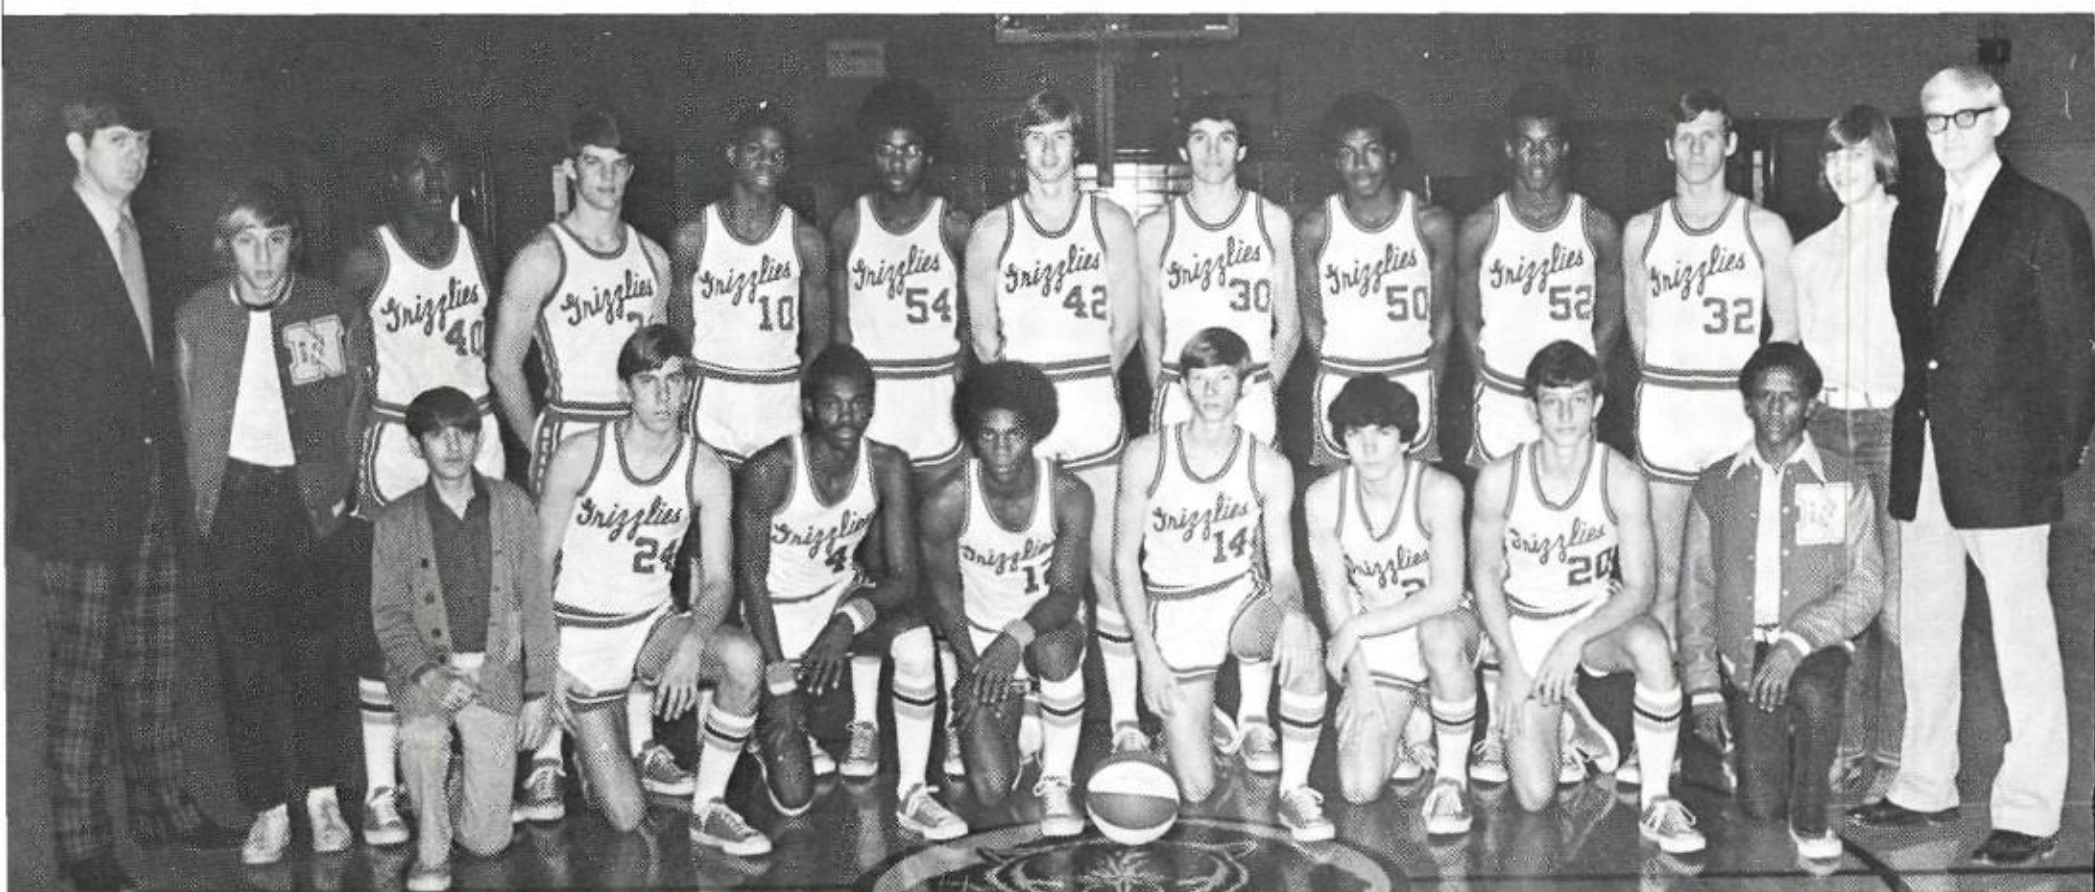

Northside's Cubs ended their season with a 21-4 season record and a 12-4 conference slate.

Gaining valuable experience that will be put to use next year, the Cubs battled B teams of the same schools the Grizzlies played. Cub basketball is considered a preview of what will be next year. This season's B teams will be to a great extent next year's varsity teams.

Winning the first 12 games, the Cubs seemed to be following the number one Grizzly tradition. Before dropping a 48-41 decision to LR Hall, the Cubs defeated Mena, Subiaco, Fayetteville and Van Buren, twice each, El Dorado, Charleston and NLR Northeast. The next Cub victories came over Southside, LR Parkview, NLR Ole Main and LR Catholic High, twice; LR Central, El Dorado, NLR Northeast and LR Hall. Losses were to Pine Bluff, twice and to LR Central.

Leading the Cubs to one of the best records in the state, Steve Vann, Danny Tedder, Tyrus Bell and Tony Gilyard were top scorers. Gilyard was kept from playing during the first half of the schedule because of an injury sustained in football.

Carolyn reigns.

Queen Carolyn Triplett reigned over 1973 basketball homecoming following a week of special festivities centered around the theme "Visions of Victory." A slogan contest, carnation sale, a bonfire and pep assembly were among the activities that were climaxed by the crowning of the queen. Maids were Cathy Basham, Jeanie Collyge, Rosie Kesner—seniors; Joanne Cary, Dana Parks, Donna Weigand—juniors; Debbie Congour and Laurie Ulrich—sophomores.

Bill Bardrick, assistant principal crowned the queen in a ceremony preceding the game between the Northside Bears and North Little Rock Northeast Chargers, February 2. Girls from each class were nominated by class councils and home rooms. Ballots were prepared by the Student Council, with voting in home rooms. The queen was selected from the senior maids by the basketball team, her name kept a secret until homecoming night.

Carolyn Triplett reigns as homecoming queen. Maids are Rosie Kesner, Cathy Basham, Jeanie Collyge, Dana Parks, Joanne Cary, Donna Weigand, Laurie Ulrich and Debbie Congour.

Experience leads pack back.

Track

Experience marked the ranks of the Grizzly track squad as they returned 11 lettermen for the '73 season, some in nearly every event.

"We should be strong in the pole vault with Daryl Revelle, Larry Mallard and Ricky Williams returning from last year," said Coach Don Thone at the beginning of practice. Revelle won the AAAA state meet and competed in the Arkansas Meet of Champs in Little Rock in '72.

Other strengths showed in the distance races with three-year starter John Bice and one-year runner Ralph Kutait, the sprint races with Steve Shepherd, Richard Houston, Laland Booth and Harold Parish, and the hurdles run by Dennis Huffman. This year's opponents included Catholic High, El Dorado, LR Central, LR Hall, NLR, NLR Northeast, Pine Bluff and local rivals, Southside, Fayetteville and Springdale.

Putt-putt power.

Golf

"Every putt counts" is the theme of the '72-'73 Northside golf team since last year's narrow defeat of but two strokes that kept them from repeating as the top AAAA team in the state.

In attempting to defend their number two state ranking, the team entered its third season of AAAA golf competition with two returning starters and lettermen from last year's team. Barry Harwood and Paul Oliver came back from a squad that went undefeated through the regular season only to place second in the state meet, missing first by only two strokes.

To be ready for the spring matches, the golfers work out five days a week from 2:30 to 6:00. Weight lifting and conditioning are performed on Tuesdays and Fridays while actual play takes place on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. This year's roster of opponents included Alma, Fayetteville, Muskogee, Southside and Van Buren.

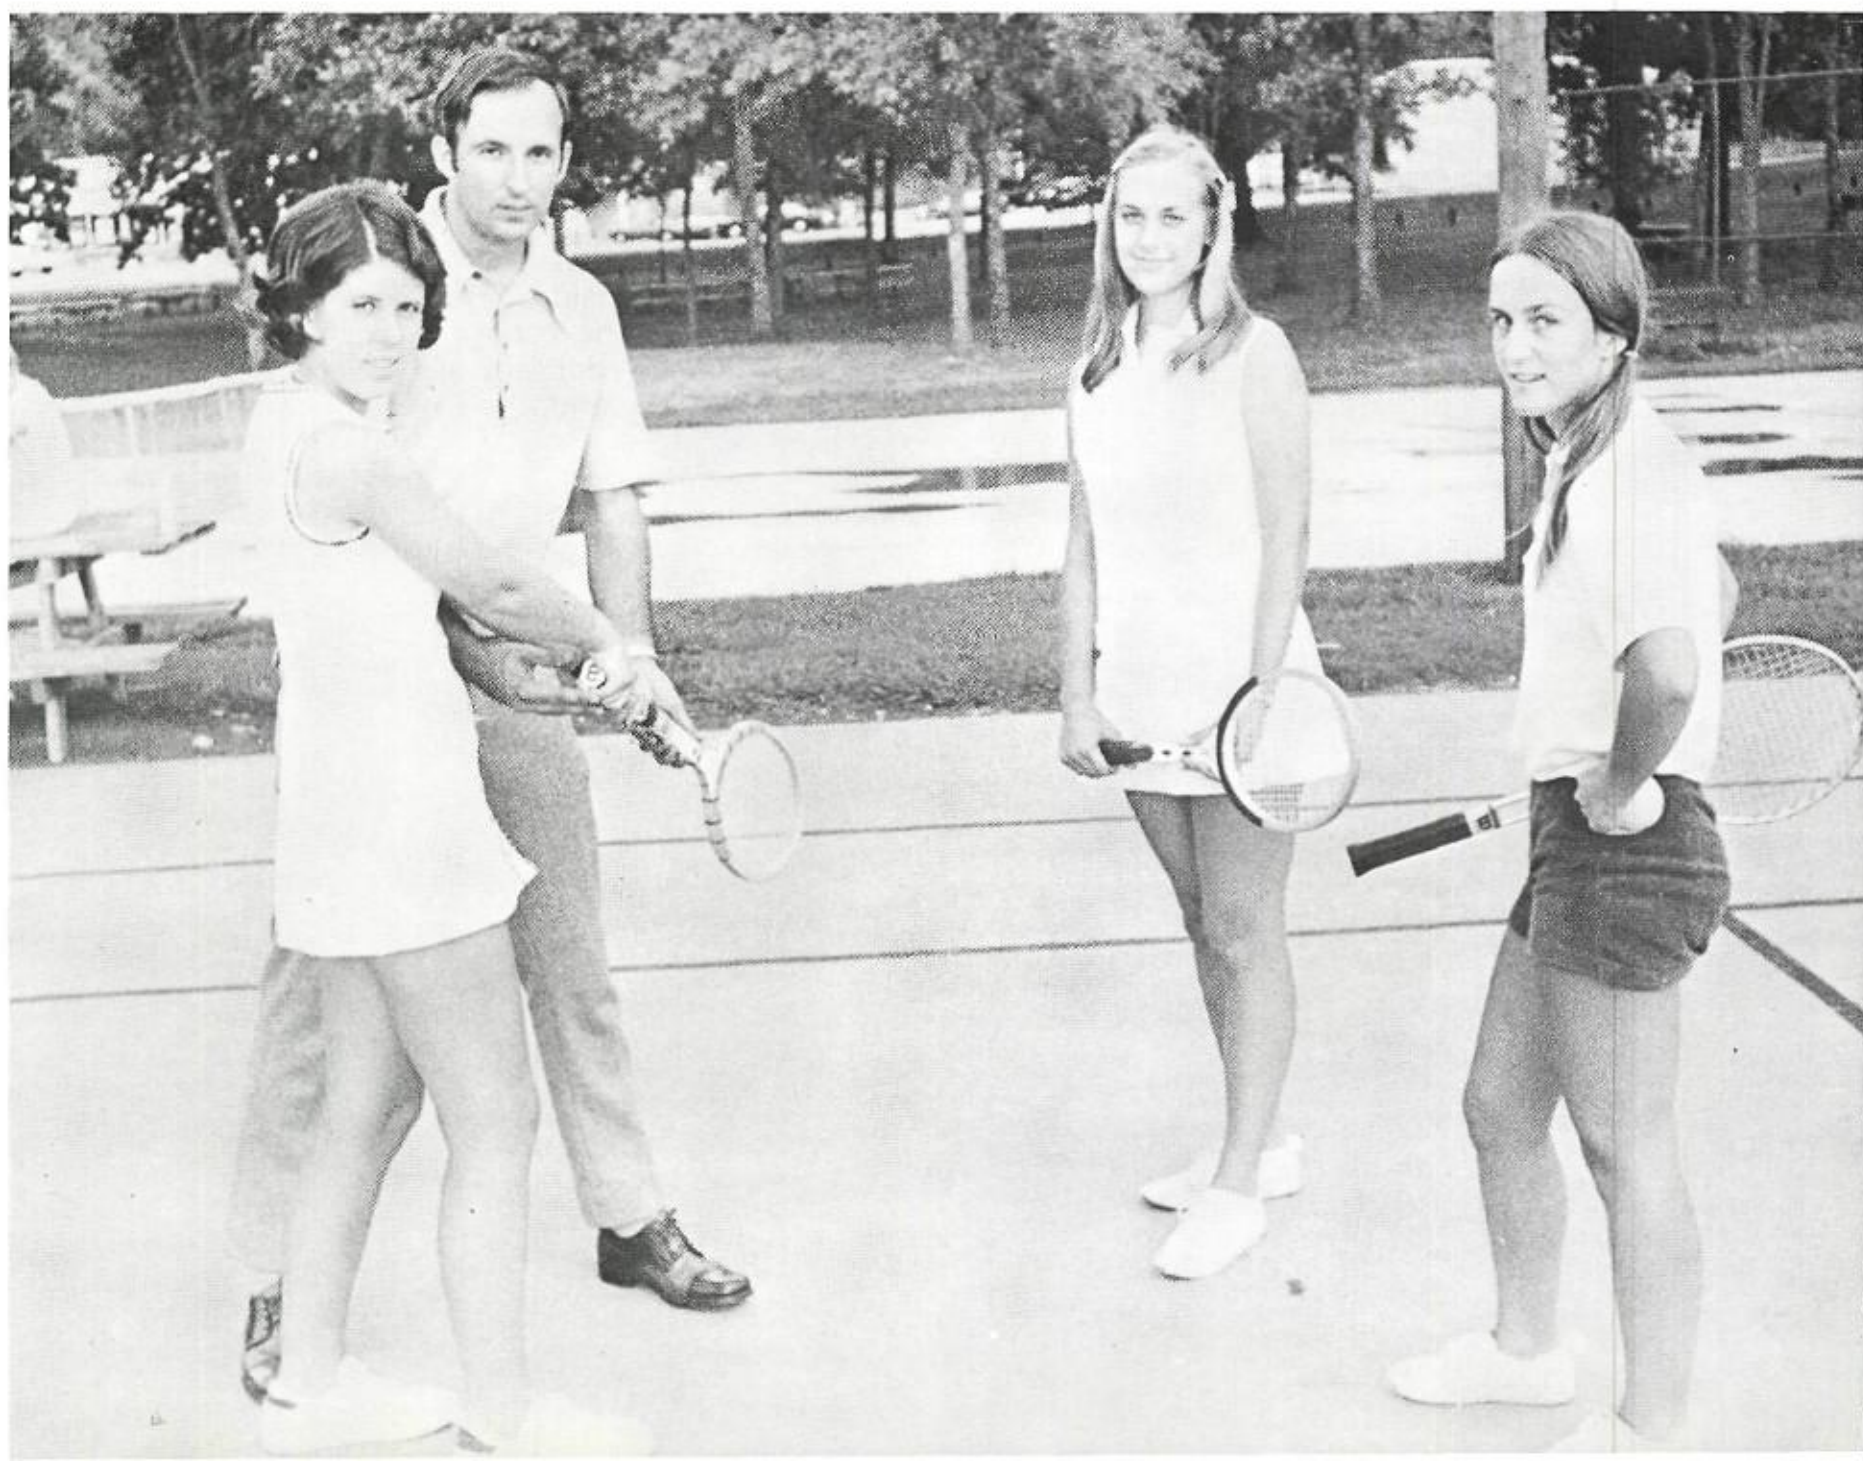

- ◀ Concentration is essential in avoiding mistakes while putting. Here Barry Harwood sinks a four-footer.
- ↓ Golf, like everyday living, is not always played on the greens and fairways as demonstrated by Kelly Buerger trying to swing out of a water trap.

Women's Lob takes over.

Tennis

With the lack of male interest in the tennis program, Women's Lob took over. Headed by returning players from 1972, Cathy Basham and Ann Warmack, the team rounded out forces with a sophomore addition Libby Bender.

Different from the casual approach taken last year, the team, under the sponsorship of Bobby Burns, had regular practices on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 2:10 to 4:30. Practices and scheduled matches were held at Ben Geren Park Tennis Center.

The early spring schedule included new rival additions of Hall and Parkview of Little Rock and Ole Main and Northeast of North Little Rock. New Oklahoma teams were Muskogee and Tahlequah. Final season plans for the team included the state meet in North Little Rock. Last spring the doubles team of Basham and Warmack made the quarterfinals before being eliminated by Parkview.

N is for No. 1 Northside.

"N" Club

The "N" Club is many things.

Just what goes into the making of this "sixth period gang" noted for long hours of practice?

Months of strength building and running provides the basis for Northside's entrance into the tough AAAA conference, a battleground for the largest and most competitive of the state's high schools. Hopefully, those long hours of practice, development and actual game time pay off with victory and a letter.

If the coaches agree that an athlete has displayed qualities synonymous with traditional Northside athletics—pride, integrity, spirit, determination, drive—and if that athlete has contributed enough to the over-all team effort, then a varsity letter is his. There is more to a varsity letter than a piece of cloth . . . competition, excellence, pride . . . number one. And to a Grizzly, "number one" not only means the win, but the winning spirit.

Grizzly girls growl great.

Cheerleaders

"Grizzlies number one again . . . again . . ." is a common phrase at Northside and the '72-'73 Grizzly cheerleaders are no exception. They came home with the title of Grand Champions from the International Cheerleading Foundation workshop in Tallahassee, Florida in August '72. But that was only the beginning. Those eight Grizzly backers are Sarah Basham ('73), Pam Elkins ('73), Sandy Diamond ('73), Cathee Crain ('73), Rosie Kesner ('73), Nancy Naucke ('73), Judy Townley ('73) and Cynthia Kincannon ('74).

Cheering for football, basketball and track, painting signs, planning pep rallies, promoting magazine and candy sales, doughnut breakfasts for athletes, Booster Club meetings, rummage sales, workdays, endless hours of practice . . . all in the year's work for the cheerleaders.

"Greater Grizzlies you'll never see; we're the class of '73!"

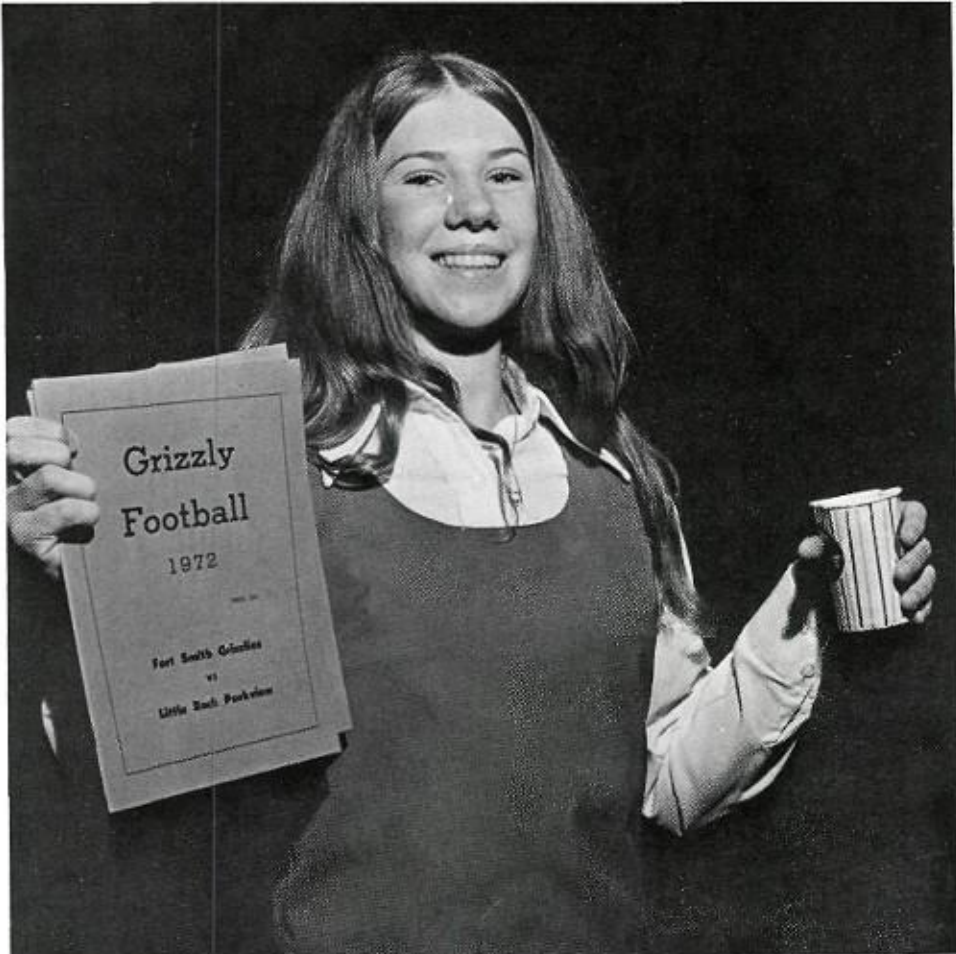

"Grizzly Bears like never before; we're the class of '74!"

"Grizzly Bears with spirit and drive; we're the class of '75!"

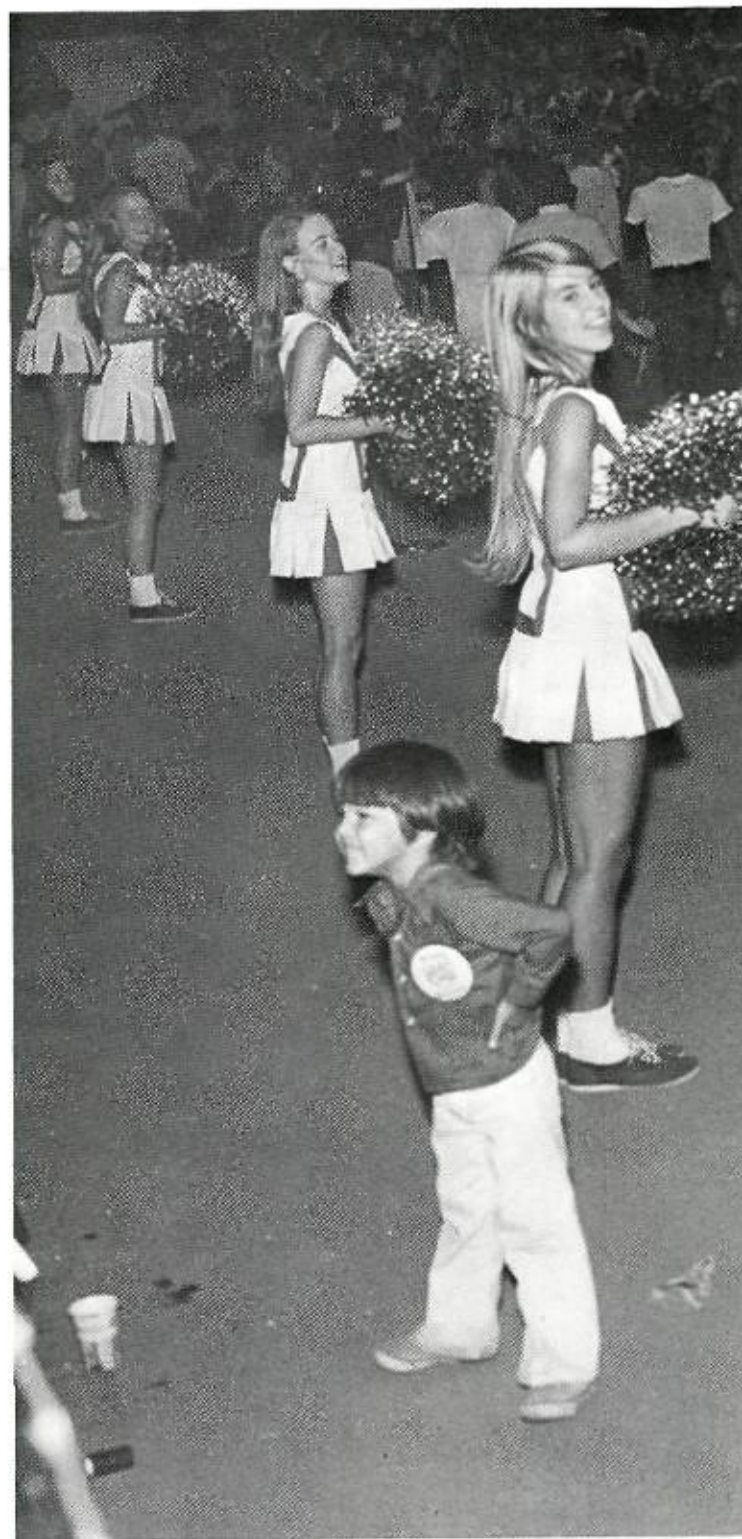

Spirit competition has always been important at Northside, but the eventual winner always turns out to be the NHS Pep Club.

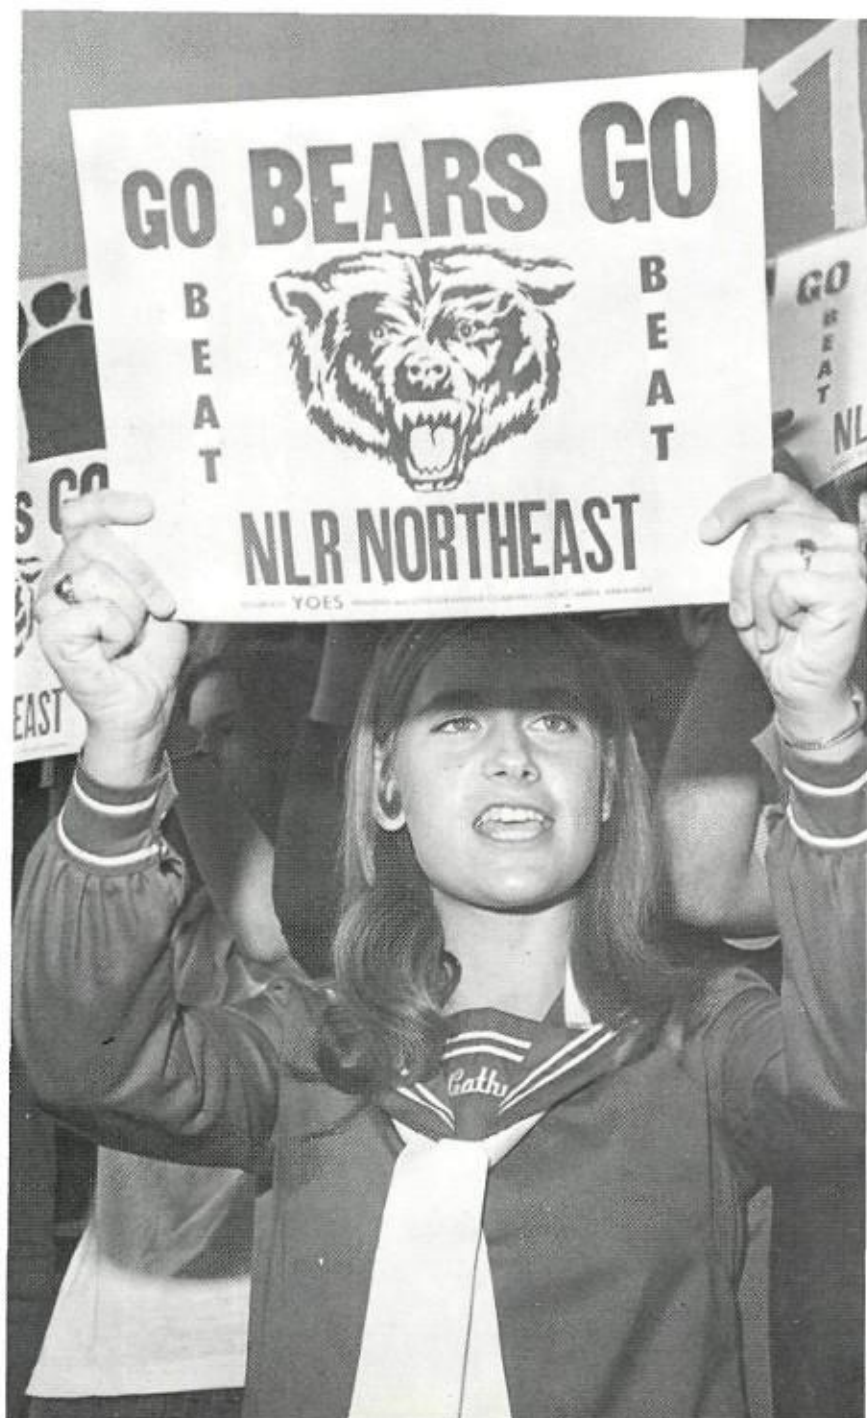

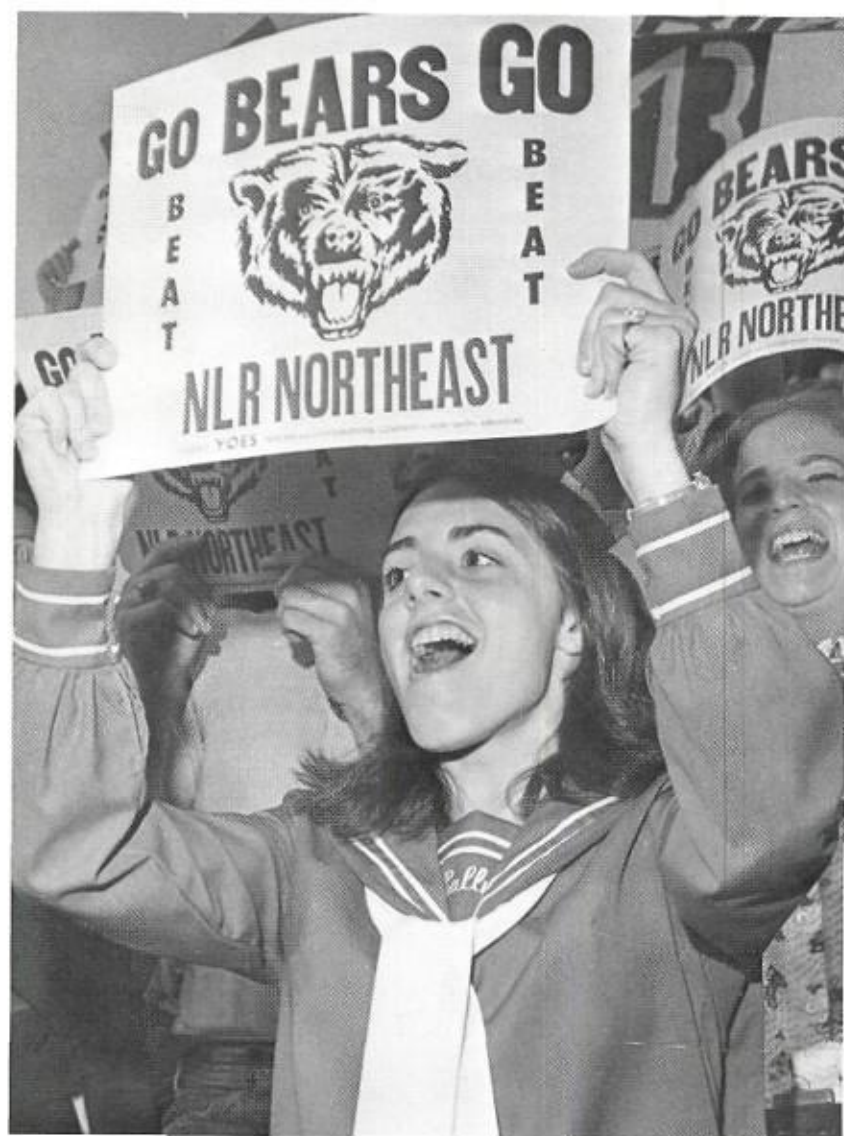

A member of the Pep Club is a remarkable two-sided person. One side of the member attends the regular meetings held after school every Tuesday, where projects are discussed and cheers are learned. She sells candles, programs and candy, and travels great distances to watch her Grizzlies do their thing. The other side is that of a yelling, screaming, clapping maniac who refuses to settle for anything short of a Grizzly victory.

Leading ladies.

Responsibility for leading the '72-'73 Northside Pep Club in its many endeavors fell squarely on the shoulders of four junior and senior girls. Cathy Basham, Sally Wenderoth, Becky Hays and Linda Wernick were elected president, vice-president, senior leader and junior leader last year in a special meeting of the Pep Club.

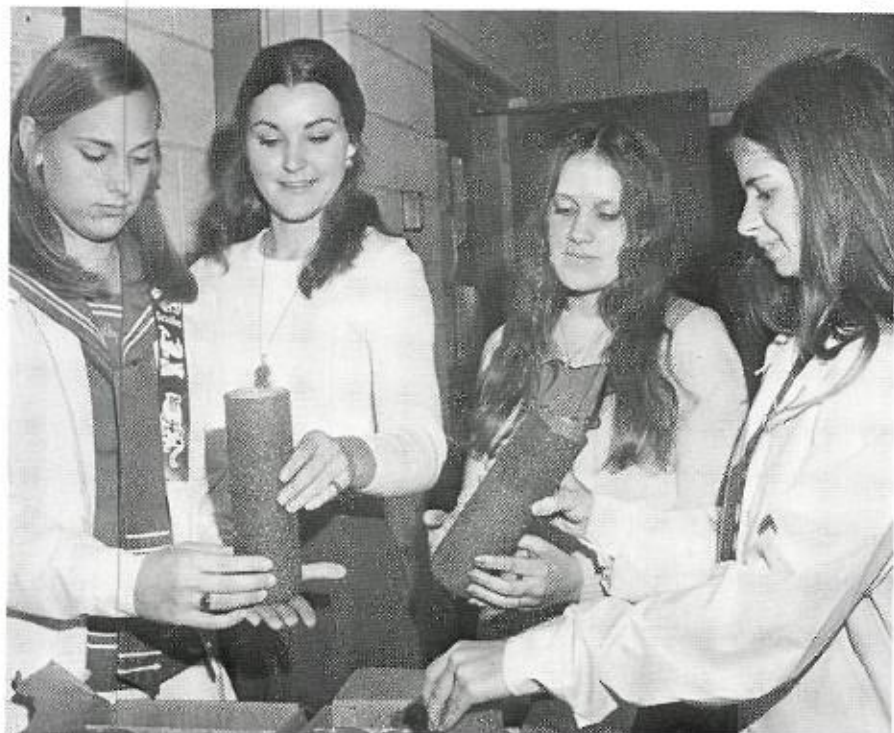

"Leading activities" include keeping the members organized, painting signs for the end of the tunnel, keeping track of money, such as that turned in for dues or from candle sales, and most important of all, leading the Pep Club in backing the MIGHTY MIGHTY GRIZZLIES.

Drill team

Now in its second year, the '72-'73 Northside girls' drill team may sound much like JROTC in practice, but that's where the resemblance ends. Exhibiting the same vitality and spirit as last year, members are yet another of the organized groups of Bear-backers. The 28 girls are sponsored by Miss Molly Harsh and led by officers Rhonda Lee, captain; Lisa Bogan, first lieutenant; and Joanne Cary, second lieutenant.

After being chosen last year by a panel of teachers, members practiced regularly during the summer, with eight of the team, including the officers, attending clinics in Dallas and Fayetteville to improve their marching skills.

Marching during half time and promoting good ole Grizzly spirit are two of the activities in which a drill team member participates.

Student Council

"Youthful Partners for a Better Tomorrow," the theme of the State Association of Student Councils convention, summarizes the purpose of Northside's Student Council. Primary activity of the council, the convention was held at Northside in April. The council members, led by first-semester president Jeanie Collyge and vice-president Terry Sass, worked to organize the program and activities for 200 delegates and 100 sponsors.

The council was also active in internal affairs of the school. Main goals were providing student services such as the book exchange, Christmas post office and rap sessions about school problems with Dr. C.B. Garrison, superintendent of schools.

Second-semester officers Chuck Berlau, president, and Gary Adams, vice-president, directed Teacher Appreciation Day and Twirp Week and conducted the state convention.

7:45 dawns a new day and a Wednesday morning House meeting. The House of Representatives is designed to improve student relations and participation in school activities. A representative from each homeroom works toward informing the student body of the activities of the House and Student Council.

As an active part of Northside, the House has worked at various projects throughout the year. Sponsoring bus trips to out-of-town games, selling Bear shirts and Grizzly jerseys, working toward a $1,500 goal for remodeling the auditorium, selling license plates, ringing bells for the Salvation Army and sending Grizzly Grams have kept the House busy.

Robert E. Peel is House sponsor. First semester officers were Terry Sass, speaker; Janice Hughes, treasurer; Dee Ann Fairfield, recording secretary; Mark Spears, roll call secretary. Second semester officers were Gary Adams, speaker; Janice Hughes, treasurer; Dee Ann Fairfield, recording secretary; Linda Jones, roll call secretary.

The Fling's the thing.

Senior Fling—a mild combination of “talent,” comedy, lines, music and wit. With a semisequel to the Junior Variety of 1972, the Fling starred Becky Hays and Gordon Floyd as emcees. For writing and arranging the music, a special bouquet was awarded to Kevin White. Others in the combo were Karen Woolbright and Chris Latsos on the piano and drums. Senior Council members and honorary members at large made up the “Script and Skit Committee for Senior Fling.”

'73—a class that came to be heard, bringing spirit-minded ideas to leave a long-remembered impression at Northside.

Led by Carl Wikstrom, president, and Martha Cravens, vice-president, the seniors were awarded the spirit plaque for the third year to become the first class ever to achieve this honor. Other officers for the council were Jimmie Grace, recording secretary; Sarah Meek, corresponding secretary; and Ann Warmack, attendance secretary. Mrs. Charles Werner has been the class sponsor for two years.

Money-making projects included doughnut sales, a pancake supper, a rummage sale and the annual production of Senior Fling, a variety show in March. The council's main goal was to raise enough money for senior prom, which centered around the theme "Color My World."

17 named to Hall of Fame.

What is a Hall of Fame senior? Is he a top scholar, an all-star athlete, a council worker, a club member, a cheerleader, a journalist? Seventeen seniors have been elected to the '73 Hall of Fame, combining all areas of school activities. Sponsored each year by the Senior Council, Hall of Fame is open for student body nominations. The finalists are elected by faculty vote. The announcement is kept secret until Bruin delivery.

Bruin Beauty

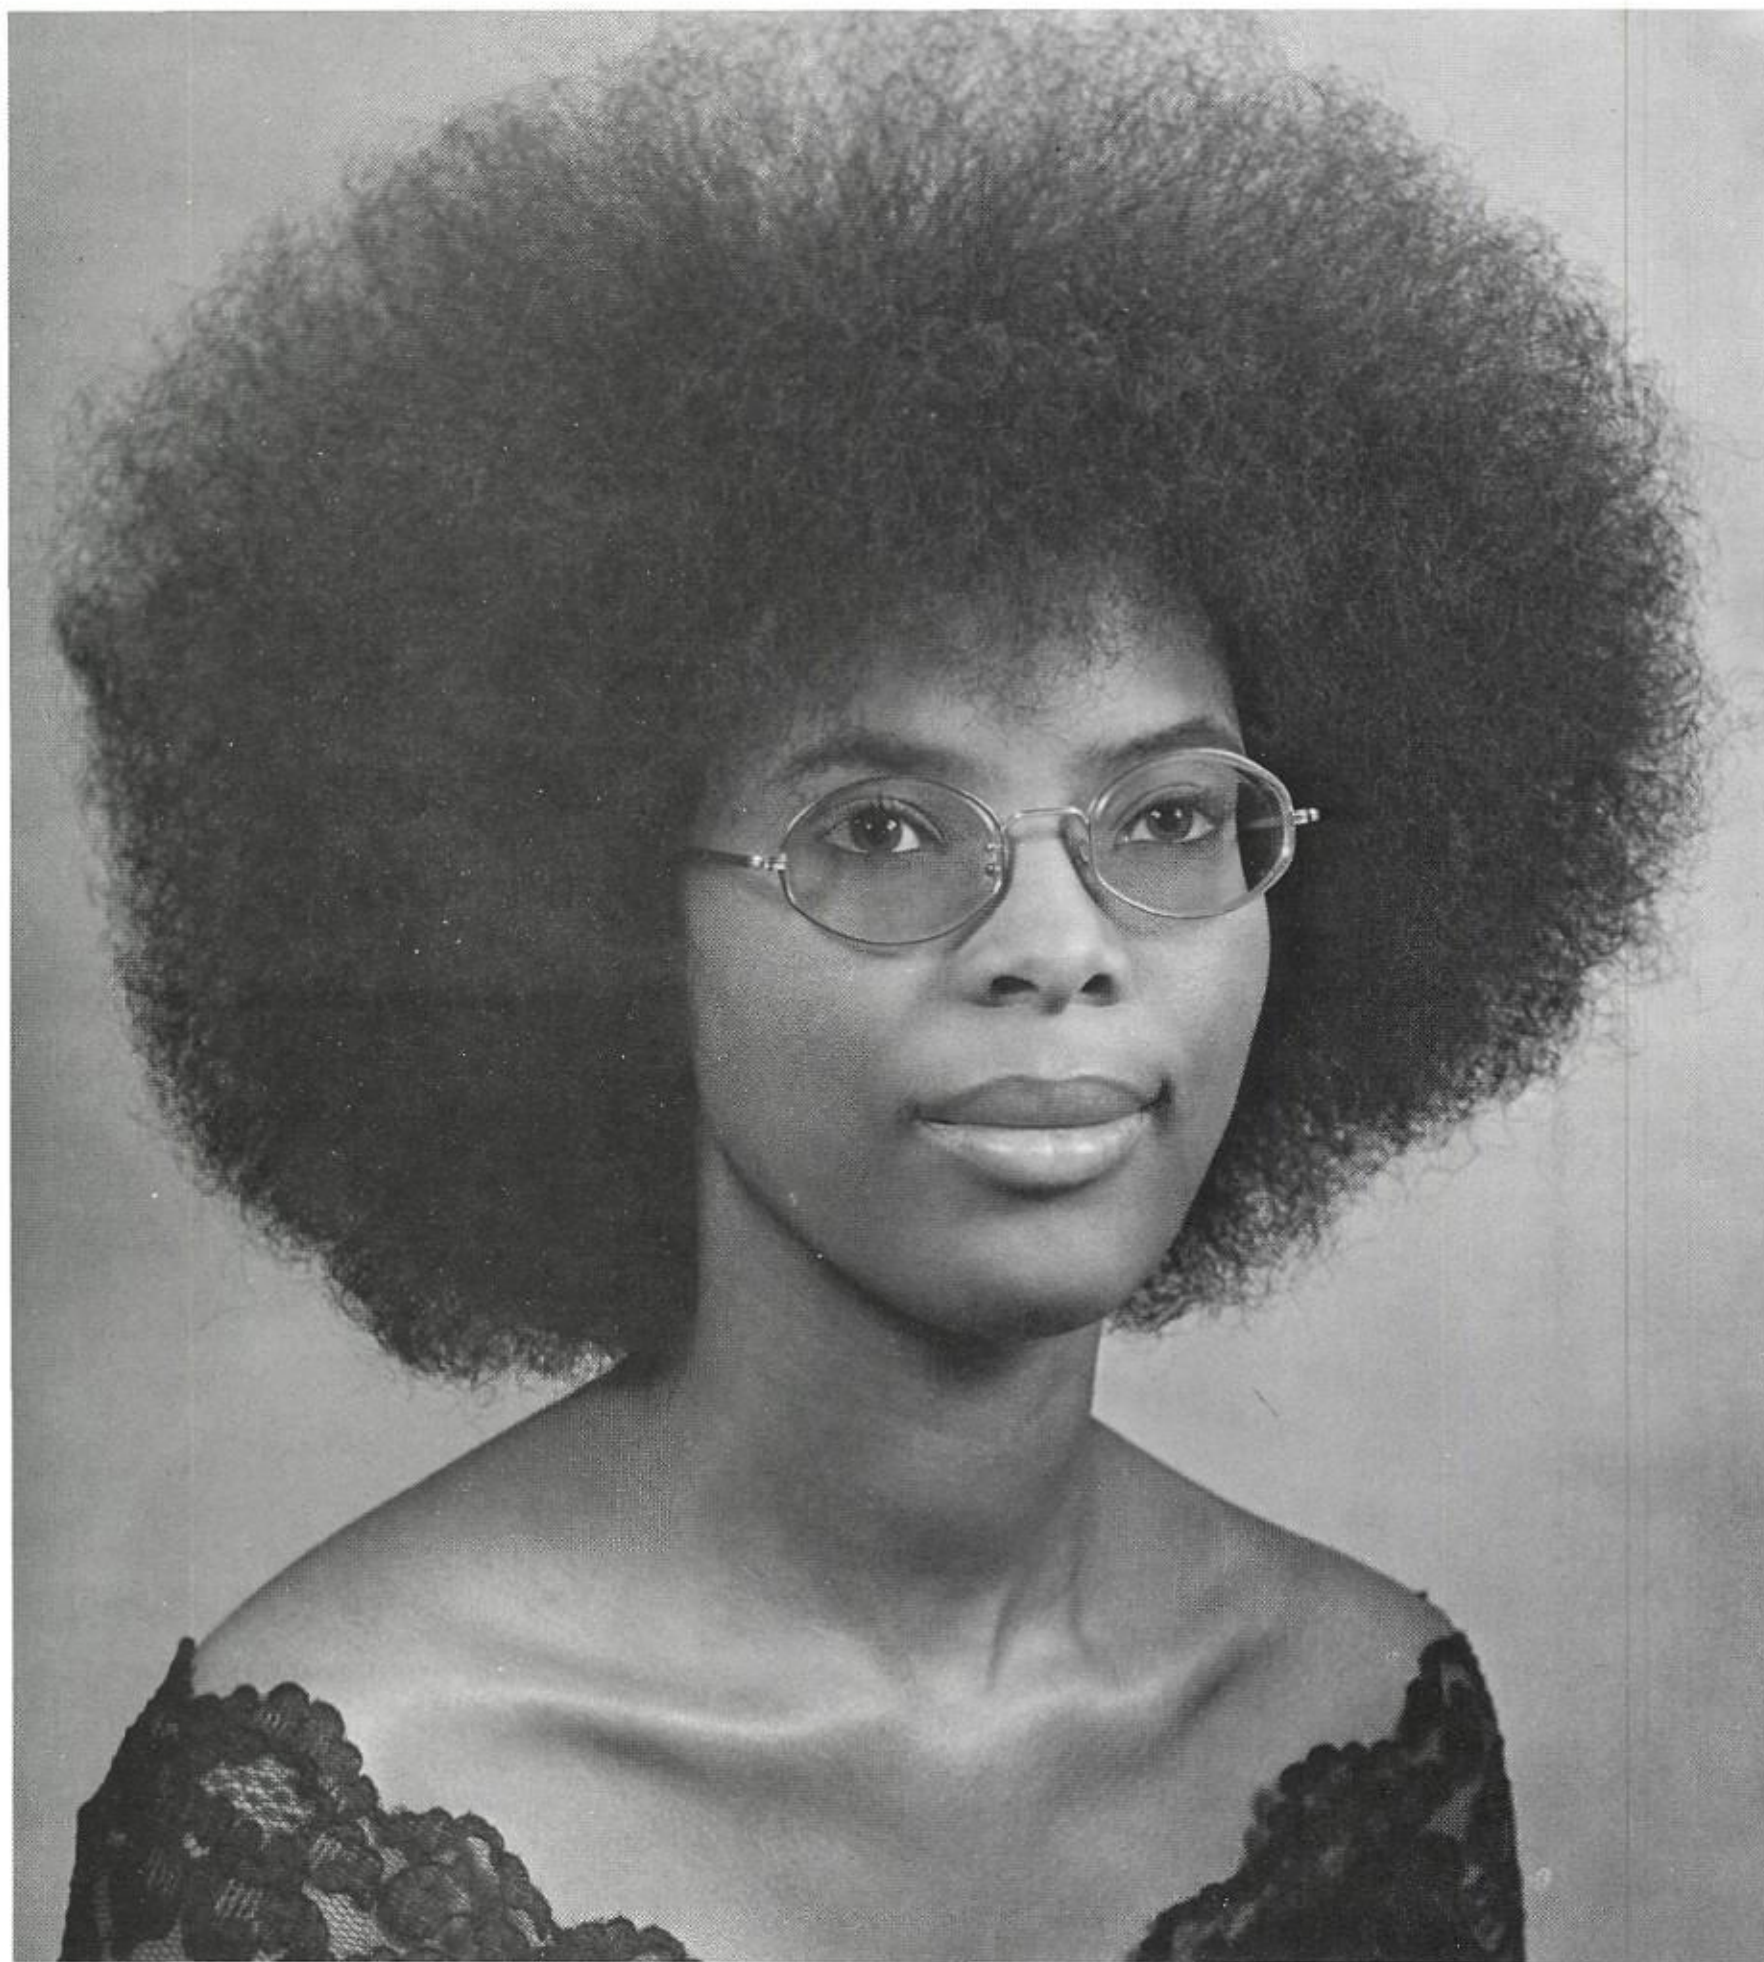

Kim McBride has been named the 1973 Bruin Beauty. The contest, sponsored by the Senior Council, is to choose the "most beautiful senior girl at Northside."

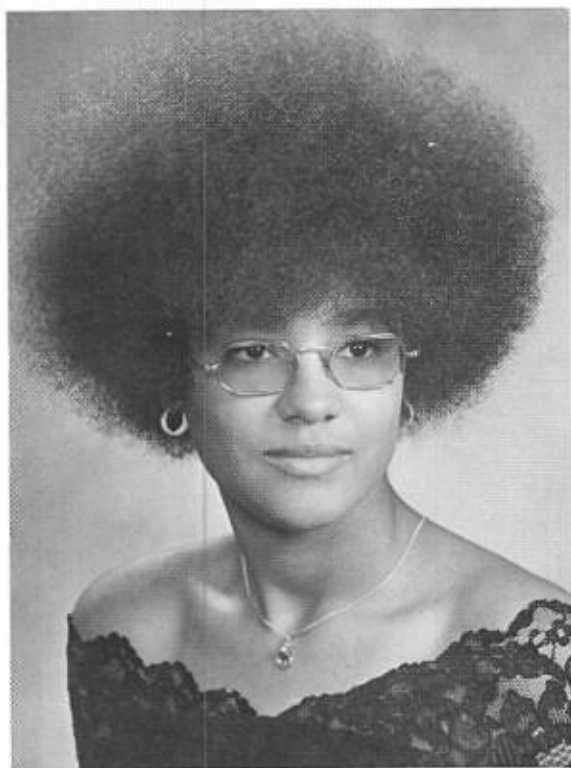

Eighty-six girls were nominated during a school-wide balloting in early October. These nominees submitted their portraits to the Senior Council, who sent them to Miss Wade's Fashion School in Dallas for judging.

The seven finalists chosen were Sarah Basham, Margie Howe, Rhonda Lee, Kim McBride, Sarah Meek, Carolyn Triplett and Linda Yocum. Photos of these seven were then judged by a portrait artist at Gittings Studio of Neiman-Marcus in Dallas. Although the judging was held in December, the winner is traditionally kept secret until the presentation of the Bruin in late May.

For its second year, the Miss Black Heritage contest was sponsored by the Northside Confederation of Black Students. The contest, similar to the Bruin Beauty contest for all students, was open only to senior black girls. The student body nominated 18 girls, whose pictures were sent to the University of Arkansas for judging. Wendell Griffen, president of the student body at the University, headed the panel of seven black males for the judging. The seven semifinalists were Clara Flake, Christine Hogue, Janice Jacobs, Patricia McGill, Mary Roberts, Robbie Stafford and Delores Triplett. The winner was kept secret until the delivery of the Bruin in May, a Northside tradition.

A few extra doughnuts, a few extra hours of work on floats, a few extra errands for Senior Fling, for rummage sales and prom equals that "extra" bit of dedication which leads to the honor of Senior of the Month.

Each month, the council nominates worthy seniors and votes for two who have contributed the most to class projects, student government and publications.

This year for the first time, the council named two seniors for the month of June. Also for the first time, each month drawings of the two current honorees were posted on the bulletin board in the hall.

Junior Council

New sponsor, new year—same class, same activities. With a mixture of new and old, the class of '74 got off to a headstart in the summer of '72 with fund raising activities. Projects included a car wash, a rummage sale, a turkey raffle, another car wash and innumerable doughnut sales.

Under the leadership of Wade Plunkett, president, the council vowed to make plenty of money toward their senior prom. Other officers included Cheryl Overstreet, vice-president; Lisa Lunney, treasurer; Linda Wernick, corresponding secretary; and Cynthia Kincannon, attendance secretary.

The day of the ring.

This is the day when juniors receive their official school rings—the tie that binds them to Northside—the circlet of gold that is “a symbol for inclusion, not of exclusion,” said R. Earl Farnsworth, in his introduction for the ring ceremony.

Mr. Farnsworth’s speech was followed by several talks by juniors and the symbolic circle formed by the council, who received their rings first. The rings were accepted “with some seriousness, with some hopefulness, and with some happiness.”

Sophs arrive with drive.

Sophomore Council

Unite. This was the ambition of the class of '75—to banish competition and junior high ties which would keep them apart and to draw together not as Cougars, Raiders, Rangers or even an occasional Ram but as Grizzlies.

Officers elected in the fall were Cindy Weigand, president; Jim Faust, vice-president;

Mary O'Malley, secretary; Cindy Swofford, treasurer; and Bruce Hoffsommer, sponsor.

"Grizzly Bears with spirit and drive" began their first year as Growlin' Grizzlies by uniting to build a homecoming float. Fund raising projects included the sale of candy, doughnuts and plastic yearbook covers.

Peabody was again home of the sophs.
